REDS HASTEN CUBAN BUILDUP

—OLE MISS STUDENTS CHEER—

BARNETT REFUSES TO ENROLL NEGRO

Oxford, Miss. (UPI) — James Meredith tried to enroll in the University of Mississippi Thursday but was turned away by Gov. Ross Barnett and left the campus with the students' chant of "nigger, nigger, nigger" ringing in his ears.

Barnett, who only hours before had flown to the campus to take personal charge of the situation, was there to deal with the 29-year-old Air Force veteran after federal officers escorted him past the thousands of jeering students.

The governor's refusal to admit Meredith was in direct defiance of 3 federal court orders — including one from the U.S. Supreme Court.

Probably

Mrs. Constance Baker Motley, one of Meredith's attorneys, said she wasn't entirely sure what her next move would be but added, "I will probably move to cite Gov. Barnett for contempt."

Almost simultaneously, the Justice Department in Washington announced it had asked a federal judge to order 3 University of Mississippi officials to show cause Friday why they should not be held in civil contempt in the Meredith case.

The request was quickly granted by Federal District Judge Sidney Mize of Meridian who ordered the 3 university officials to appear before him at 3:30 p.m. EDT Friday.

Gov. Ross Barnett was not included in the action, however. Those named in the request, which will be formally presented Friday, are Chancellor John Davis Williams, Dean Arthur Lewis, and Registrar Byron Ellis.

Boisterous Line

Meredith, flanked by U.S. deputy marshals, drove onto the tree-lined campus at 6:30 p.m. EDT and found boisterous students lined up to meet him.

"There's that nigger ... you black so-and-so," they shouted.

About 100 gray-clad Mississippi State Highway Patrolmen stood guard at the scene and kept the students behind a chain fence and barricade set up earlier in the afternoon.

Marched In

Meredith climbed from the car that brought him onto the campus and marched with the marshals at his side into alumni building where Barnett sat waiting.

A law enforcement officer who was present in the conference room said that Meredith and the federal officers were asked as they entered whether they had business with the University.

"I want to enter the University of Mississippi," Meredith reportedly replied.

Registrar Byron Ellis then read a resolution adopted only hours before by the state college board designating Barnett as acting registrar.

Barnett then promptly told Meredith that his application was rejected.

One of the federal officers accompanying Meredith asked the governor: "Do you realize you are placing yourself in contempt of federal court?"

Barnett snapped back:

"Are you telling me this, or does it take a judge."

Back Out

Twenty minutes after Meredith first entered the building he found himself back out on the street.

As he walked toward his car the chant went up again! "nigger, nigger, nigger."

Meredith set his jaw as the taunts were hurled at him. He stared straight ahead and appeared outwardly calm as the car pulled away from the curb and started off the campus.

Not Disclosed

His destination was not disclosed but it was believed he was taken out of state to Memphis, Tenn., where he had been in seclusion immediately prior to attempting to enter "Ole Miss."

Barnett got a roar of approval from the students when he walked out of the alumni building and announced: "his application was denied."

"We want Ross, we want Ross," the students chanted as the governor climbed in his car and drove away — waving at the students as he left.

Senate leaders, from left, John Sparkman, Bourke B. Hickenlooper, Richard B. Russell and Leverett Saltonstall, discuss resolution against Cuba and Moscow.

Senate Takes A Firm Stand

Notice Served On Kremlin U.S. Will Fight If Hemisphere Threatened

Washington (UPI)—Russia is continuing its fast-paced military buildup in Cuba and is building 12 antiaircraft missile bases there, official U.S. sources said Thursday. The report came as the Senate endorsed a "fight if we must" resolution.

In still another development, the House took surprise action in tacking onto President Kennedy's foreign aid bill an amendment to cut off aid to countries whose ships carry on trade with Cuba.

The developments came as Secretary of State Dean Rusk warned in testimony just made public that a clash was possible in Cuba. He added, however, that he hoped a firm U.S. stand would deter Cuba from any aggressive action.

U.S. Means Business

In his testimony, Rusk said this country's close surveillance of the buildup could touch off incidents involving U.S. armed forces. At the same time, he served notice that the United States would intercept any illegal arms or troops being shipped from Cuba to other Latin American countries.

The report on the Soviet buildup in Cuba was given by official U.S. sources who drew on the latest intelligence reports. They said Russia now has 4,200 military personnel in Cuba and is building 12 anti-aircraft missile sites.

It is Continuing

The officials also said Russia has sent Cuba at least one and probably several advanced type MIG jet fighter planes. As given to newsmen, their report indicated the Russian military buildup still was proceeding.

Even so, the official said there is no change in the government's belief that the buildup is essentially defensive. They said there still is no indication of Soviet combat troops in Cuba.

The report on the buildup was given shortly after the Senate approved 86 to 1 its resolution backing the President in any steps necessary to prevent the spread of communism from Cuba to the rest of the hemisphere. The lone opposition vote was cast by Sen. Winston L. Prouty, R-Vt., who felt it was not strong enough.

Sent To House

The Senate-passed resolution was sent to the House where the Armed Services Committee had approved it just a few hours earlier. The House is expected to give it overwhelming endorsement, probably Monday, and send it to the president.

Shortly before Rusk had warned in his publicly-disclosed testimony that the United States would act on its own in Cuba if necessary. But he emphasized that military action there probably would lead to "hot engagements" with Russia elsewhere.

According to the official report on the Russian buildup in Cuba, between 65 and 75 Soviets ships have carried military equipment and personnel, as well as civilian cargoes, to Cuba since mid-July. The rate of Soviet shipping to Cuba doubled in mid-July and has remained constant since.

Officials said the Russians are setting up 12 surface-to-air missile sites in Cuba on both sides of Havana. They seem to be designed for a Soviet missile similar to the U.S. Nike defense weapon, but the bases may not yet be in operation.

The 4,200 Soviet military personnel include construction workers and technicians who are setting up coastal defenses. On Sept. 4, the White House placed the number of Soviet military personnel in Cuba at 3,500.

League Readying Change In Bylaws

...TO TIGHTEN UP ON LAWSUITS

By DON WALTON
Star Staff Writer

Kearney — The League of Nebraska Municipalities Thursday prepared an amendment to its bylaws which will prevent its involvement in a future court action without a poll of its membership.

The amendment is expected to receive overwhelming approval Friday.

The change will be proposed in an effort to assure League members that they will not again be participants in a suit which does not have the approval of the majority of its members.

League President Kenneth Lee of Alliance told The Star that 90% of member cities who replied to a poll taken by him opposed the recent legislative reapportionment lawsuit brought by the League.

Only 9 of the 100 members who answered the query favored the action, he said.

The suit was initiated by the League upon a vote of its executive council.

Chapman On Way Out?

Meanwhile, several members present at the League's annual fall conference openly predicted a move will be undertaken to replace its legal counsel, Lloyd Chapman of Lincoln.

Chapman underwent heavy corridor criticism here in the wake of his action in handling the suit.

Lee said a large majority of League members want assurance that "it will not happen again."

An undercurrent of dissatisfaction — described by Lee as "a power keg" — hung over Thursday's opening session attended by 150 municipal officials.

"Adverse publicity on the suit has been pulling the League apart," Lee said.

"But we will let it pass and keep the League going. "Nebraska cities need the League."

Hopes Of Rejoining

Lee said he hoped municipalities which have withdrawn from the organization as a result of the lawsuit will rejoin the League soon.

In Thursday's general session:

—Alden Aust, Omaha city planner, suggested that traffic safety would be best served by closing some unneeded city and county roads, and devoting their maintenance funds to more heavily traveled highways.

—G. H. Seig, of Omaha, attorney for Metropolitan Utilities District, declared that legislation is needed "to protect cities which depend on ground water" from encroachment upon that supply by future drillers.

House Ignores JFK; Slashes Foreign Aid

Washington (AP) —The House Thursday ignored an eleventh hour plea from President Kennedy and voted a slash of nearly $1.4 billion in foreign-aid funds for the current year.

The roll call vote was 249 to 144 to trim funds to $5.9 billion, against the President's request for $7.3 billion.

Voting for the bill were 174 Democrats and 75 Republicans. Voting against were 61 Democrats and 83 Republicans.

Nebraska Reps. Dave Martin, Ralph Beermann and Glenn Cunningham voted for the cut and Rep. Phil Weaver against it.

In addition, it shouted through 3 amendments aimed at cutting off funds for any country which allows its ships to be used to carry goods of any kind to Cuba.

Passage came after the leadership, sensing sentiment for even deeper cuts in the $5,956,852,000 measure, decided against risking a floor fight to override the recommendations of its appropriations committee.

No Support

In the general debate, not a single voice was raised to support the President's contention that the cut made by chairman Otto E. Passman's Foreign Appropriations Subcommittee was an irresponsible action that "poses a threat to free-world security."

The leadership pinned its hopes for restoration of some portion of economic and military aid funds on the Senate and whatever compromise can be reached in the eventual conference between the two bodies.

The House leadership made no effort even to get standing votes on the Cuban amendments, apparently hewing to a newly adopted policy of letting the House have its head in hacking at the administration measure.

By voice vote the House brushed aside the warning that one of the Cuban amendments "might cause World War III," and shouted it through.

All the amendments would have to be accepted by the Senate and by the President before they could become law.

The most restrictive of the anti-Cuban trade amendments was offered by Rep. Walter Rogers, D-Tex. It would deny foreign aid to a country whose ships carry trade of any kind to Cuba.

Carriers Hit

Another, by Rep. Thomas M. Pelly, R-Wash., was aimed at nations whose vessels transport arms or strategic materials to the Castro regime. He said West Germany, Greece, Italy and Great Britain would be included in this category.

A third amendment, by Rep. Herbert C. Bonner, D-N.C. would prohibit any ship that carried war material or other "economic goods" to Cuba from entering a U.S. port to pick up foreign-aid shipments.

Bonner said the amendment would "enclose Cuba in a complete embargo."

No Dissent

The House accepted the Bonner and Pelly amendments without dissent but several members expressed concern when Rogers' was offered.

"I hope the gentleman will withdraw it," said Rep. John J. Rooney, D-N.Y. "it might cause World War III."

U.N. Plane Crashes In Congo; Hit?

United Nations, N.Y. (AP) — An unarmed U.N. plane on reconnaissance with 10 Swedish military men aboard crashed near a Congo-Katanga combat area, U.N. headquarters was told. A field report from the Congo said there was suspicion that the plane was shot down, but it gave no immediate details.

In Stockholm a Swedish army staff spokesman said in a statement that there was good hope of finding survivors. He did not say on what the hope was based.

The Stockholm statement said 10 Swedes formed a reconnaissance unit led by Capt. Jan Toll. The spokesman declined to speculate on who might have shot the plane down.

Behind Lines

The crash was described as just behind the lines of advanced troops of the Central Congolese army in secessionist Katanga Province.

U.N. efforts to reunite the rich secessionist province of President Moise Tshombe wih the Congo Central Government have deteriorated recently, and Tshombe had accused the U.N. of airlifting an offensive force into Katanga to attempt a takeover. The U.N. has denied his charges.

There was no word on the fate of the men aboard the plane, a twin-engine Dakota transport.

Swedish officials in Stockholm were informed the plane had crashed and may have been shot down near the village of Komunza, about 30 miles north of Kabonga. The U.N. said "it may have been shot down by gunfire of undetermined origin."

Robert K. A. Gardiner, U.N. chief officer in the Congo, ordered helicopters with jet fighter escort to conduct search operations over the scene starting at dawn.

Cuba Sugar Attached By Puerto Rico

San Juan, Puerto Rico (AP) —The Puerto Rican superior court Thursday attached the 120,000-bag Cuban sugar cargo of a Soviet-bound British ship that stopped here for minor repairs.

Capt. Walter C. Whitting of the freighter Streatham Hill said it was under charter to the Soviet Union. Attorneys expressed belief that the Soviet Union through its embassy in Washington might fight the court order.

The Puerto Rican court acted in a suit filed Wednesday by Isias Rodriguez Moreano asking execution of a Florida court judgment against Fidel Castro's regime.

The Dade County, Florida, court on July 26, 1961, awarded Terry Kane of Miami, Fla., $883,978 damages for the Castro regime's nationalization of Kane's firm in Cuba. The company, Agencia de Tractores and Equipos S.A., dealt in heavy machinery.

Rodriguez Moreno said the sugar aboard the Streathan Hill is valued at about $800,000. The San Juan order handed down by Judge Fauto Ramos Quiros will detain the Streatham Hill until the sugar is unloaded.

Rodriguez Moreno said he foresaw a possibility that the Soviet Union may claim title to the sugar cargo but that "in the meanwhile we have the sugar and plan to fight for it."

The Streatham Hill is owned by the Acadia Overseas Freighters Ltd., of Britain, and managed by Counties Ship Management Co. Ltd. of London. Whitting said the Soviet Union chartered the Streatham Hill for a year and that the charter has a month to go.

The Streatham Hill made port here last month after a hole was cut in its hull when it scraped a reef near Grand Turk Island while en route from Cuba to Russia. It has not yet come out of drydock.

GOP Readies Platform

Omaha (AP)— The Nebraska Republican platform to be adopted at Friday's post-primary convention is apt to be brief and specific.

And it is expected to have a grass roots flavor stemming from a survey of county committees taken to provide guidance for the statewide platform committee, plus the views of candidates.

State Chairman Robert V. Denney and former State Chairman Richard E. Spelts Jr. of Grand Island, chairman of the platform committee, both said they hoped for a concisely worded platform which will discuss specific issues in plain language.

Spelts said the platform likely will have planks on medical care, education, taxes, state government, highways and highway safety, industry, tourism and agriculture.

He said the overriding fear of Republicans generally is excessive spending which devaluates people's savings and reduces purchasing power.

The tax question probably will be the most discussed subject at the platform committee meeting.

"The general tone of committee thinking is opposed to adding taxes upon taxes as far as financing state government is concerned," Spelts said, adding that new taxes have not turned out to be replacement taxes in other states.

Spelts said he plans to ask the committee for a plank saying that in order to attract industry in quantity to the state, the governor's chair must be filled by a man "with a thorough knowledge and acquaintanceship in the industrial areas of America."

'Seaton Qualified'

The GOP nominee, Fred Seaton, "is one of the best qualified men in the recent history of Nebraska to be able to carry out this campaign," Spelts said.

He listed several other possible items for committee discussion:

—"The need for a strong governor versus a ceremonial governor."

"—The interrelationship between the federal government and its policies as they affect the thinking and leadership of the state government."

—The advance of the "welfare state."

—Traffic safety.

—Development of a total agricultural program in Nebraska.

Spelts took over the chairmanship of the platform committee when Walt Withoff of Fremont, originally given the assignment, was called out of town. Others invited to serve on the platform committee are:

Phil Robinson, Hartington; Dr. John Baker, Sutherlan; William Stewart, Lexington; Al Reddish, Alliance; A. P. White, Lyons; Richard Herman, Omaha; Emma Lou Wilcox, North Platte; Bill Mountford, Red Cloud; Martha Riggle, Grand Island; Chet Paxton, Thedford; Sally Cunningham, McCook; Carroll Jenkins, Haigler; and Mrs. Hazel Abel, Lincoln.

The convention sessions will get under way at the Paxton Hotel at 10 a.m.

Sen. Bourke B. Hickenlooper of Iowa will deliver the keynote address.

State Farm Chiefs OK House Compromise 3-1

By GLENN KREUSCHER
Farm Editor

Nebraska farm organization leaders Thursday favored 3-1 the House action in passing a compromise farm bill.

The measure included some of the provisions wanted by the Kennedy administration. (See Page 2.)

George A. Spidel of Lincoln, master of the State Grange, said: "We welcome the news. Although we do not think this is the complete solution to farm problems, we consider it a step in the right direction."

Berck Gratified

President Elton Berck of the Nebraska Farmers Union added: "I am gratified over the passage as we have encouraged its support."

Berck, of Lincoln, said he had expected stronger Republican support in view of recent publicity of the need for increased farm income.

Nebraska leaders of the National Farmers Organization termed the bill's passage "encouragement for the farmer."

Farm leaders in favor of the bill's passage praised Rep. Phil Weaver of Falls City for his continued interest in agriculture. Weaver voted for the bill.

Farm Bureau Nay

Opposition to the bill's passage came from President Charles Marshall of the Nebraska Farm Bureau, whose organization nationally opposed the legislation.

Said Marshall: "We shall continue to oppose the bill when it reaches the Senate."

Albert Francke of Walton, state chairman of the Agriculture Stabilization and Conservation Service (ASCS) heralded the House move as beneficial to the farmer and recognition of agriculture's importance to the national economy.

A majority of the farm spokesmen considered Senate passage virtually certain.

Farm Bill Wins Razor-Edge Victory In House

APPROVAL OF SENATE EXPECTED

...Freeman Delighted

Washington (AP) — By a razor-thin 5-vote margin, the House approved Thursday a compromise farm bill that would give President Kennedy some of the tools he says are necessary to control grain surpluses.

The 202-197 vote was a reversal of the 10-vote beating the House gave the original administration farm bill in June. The compromise now goes to the Senate. If the Senate approves, as expected, it will go to the President for signature.

The Senate agreed unanimously to call up the compromise bill for debate at 10 a.m. (EDT) Tuesday, and to vote on it at 3 p.m. that day.

Republicans argued bitterly against the new version and all but two of them lined up against it. Thirty-seven Democrats, many, but not all from the South, joined Republicans in voting against it.

Secretary of Agriculture Orville L. Freeman said he is delighted by the House action and described it as a vote of confidence for sensible long-range farm programs.

Freeman

The bill, worked out by a Senate-House conference, was not subject to amendment during the one-hour House debate. All the Republicans could do was move to send it back to conference with instructions to return a simple extension of present one-year emergency feed grain and wheat programs. This move failed on a straight party vote, 165-104.

The bill provides a combination of payments to wheat and feed grain growers who voltunarily reduce their acreage in 1963. The payments would include a direct or compensatory payment of 18 cents a bushel for wheat and feed grains. This makes up the difference between a lower federal price support and the present subsidy level.

Only farmers who co-operate get the direct payments, providing an incentive to join the plan.

In addition, farmers would be paid for diverting acreage from wheat and feed grains on the basis of half the value of the grain they would otherwise have grown on that acreage.

But perhaps more important than the 1963 provisions is what the bill provides for 1964 and later years.

Starting in 1964, the secretary of agriculture can set corn price supports at between 50 and 90% of parity, at such a level as he determines would not add to government-owned surplus stocks. Parity is a price set by law as a fair return to the farmer in relation to what he buys.

Republicans argued that to avoid more surpluses the secretary would set the price at 50% of parity, rather than 90, and that this would mean a ruinous price of 80 cents a bushel.

In 1964 wheat would also come under a new program. Wheat for domestic consumption and export would be supported at $2 a bushel and wheat for animal feed would be at $1.40. This would be enforced by a complicated certificate plan.

Rep. Phil Weaver, R-Neb., joined Rep. H. Carl Anderson, Minnesota Republican, in voting for the farm bill. Voting against were Reps. David Martin, Glenn Cunningham and Ralph Beermann, all Nebraska Republicans.

Argentine Loyalist Lines Broken By Rebel Tanks

Buenos Aires (AP) — Government artillery forces battled a rebel tank column 50 miles from Buenos Aires Thursday in the first fighting of Argentina's newest crisis. The rebels were reported to have driven through government lines and headed toward this capital, bristling with military activity.

Other rebel tank units rumbled up to the outskirts of Buenos Aires.

The government military command claimed 3 rebel tanks were destroyed in the clash, but news dispatches from the battle area said the rebels suffered no losses. Half a dozen rebels were reported wounded; there was no official confirmation.

Guido Reluctant

President Jose Maria Guido, for whom the rebels claim they are fighting, issued a formal order for government troops to crush the rebel stronghold at Campo de Mayo, just outside Buenos Aires. He had been reported reluctant to issue the order before this.

But later Guido threw in a stipulation that had the effect of holding up any full scale move on the rebels. He said his order can be effective only if the 3 armed forces joined in. Earlier Thursday, the Air Force withdrew from a joint loyalist command.

In Buenos Aires, loyalist forces in full battle dress took up combat positions. They were backed up by Sherman tanks of World War II vintage, armored personnel carriers and other heavy equipment and weapons.

Reported At Outskirts

Loyalist troops also set up gun positions outside the city to check the advance of another rebel tank column that approached the capital from Magdalena, about 100 miles southeast of here. The column was reported on the outskirts of Buenos Aires at nightfall.

At Campo de Mayo, Argentina's largest single military garrison, soldiers under rebel leader Gen. Juan Carlos Ongania dug trenches in preparation for combat.

News of the fighting came after Gen. Ongania rejected a second appeal from Guido for an end to his rebellion.

Governor's Youth Safety Talks To Draw 300 Pupils

Three hundred student leaders from all over Nebraska are expected to attend the Governor's Youth Safety Conference in Lincoln Sept. 29 according to preliminary estimates by Tom Carroll, executive director of the Nebraska Safety Council.

The conference, to be held at the Nebraska Center for Continuing Education, is the second annual meeting of Nebraska young people interested in safety.

"The purpose is to stimulate an awareness of the mounting problem of traffic safety among young people and to encourage organized traffic accident prevention activities in the local schools," Carroll said.

Keynote speaker for the conference will be Michael Manley of Worthington, Ohio, president of the National Student Traffic Safety Program. Gov. Frank B. Morrison will give the welcoming address.

Others appearing on the program include Joseph S. Daly of Omaha, president of the Nebraska Student Traffic Safety Association, Tom Butters of St. Paul, treasurer, John E. Everroad of Omaha, president of the Nebraska Safety Council, and Capt. O. H. Witt of the Nebraska Safety Patrol.

Barefoot Knocker Heaves Floor Rug At Woman, Flees

A barefoot assailant entered a 40-year-old Lincoln women home early Thursday and fled after hitting her in the face with a floor rug, police reported.

The woman told police she heard a knock on the door several different times, but because of the time (early in the morning), she did not answer.

She went to bed, then decided to return to the living room to turn out a light. As she entered the living room, the man came through the door, which she had thought was locked.

The man picked up a floor rug and threw it at her, ran at her and then for no apparent reason fled through the open door.

Police noted she had lump under her eye.

The woman described the man as being 40 to 50, 5 foot 10 inches tall and heavyset. He has dark hair and heavy eyebrows. The man was barefoot, police said.

Sentence Friends Of Estes

El Paso, Tex. (AP) — Three associates of West Texas promoter Billie Sol Esters were sentenced from 6 to 35 years in prison Thursday on pleas of guilty to mail fraud and conspiracy.

Those sentenced were Harold E. Orr, 31, and Ruel W. Alexander, 36, of Amarillo and Coleman McSpadden 45, of Lubbock, all officials of the Superior Manufacturing Co. of Amarillo.

McSpadden and Orr drew maximum sentences of 35 years. Alexander drew a top sentence of 6 years.

Federal Judge R. E. Thomason, however, set the sentences on 5 counts to run concurrently, which means McSpadden and Orr would serve a maximum time of 10 years and Alexander 6 years.

No fines were assessed the officials but Superior Manufacturing Co. drew $1,000 fine on 5 counts for a total of $5,000.

Judge Thomason postponed start of sentences until next Jan. 7 on condition that the 3 defendants will appear in civil and criminal cases now pending against Estes.

Orr, Alexander and McSpadden were principal stockholders in Superior Manufacturing Co., an Amarillo tank building firm.

Algerians Vote 'Yes'

... No Other Choice

Algiers (AP) — A substantial majority of Algerian voters Thursday approved Ahmed Ben Bella's 196 unopposed candidates for Algeria's first National Assembly.

The massive turnout in the "yes only" election was a clear endorsement for the strongman and the Political Bureau he expects to bring stability to the troubled nation.

Official results were not yet available. Two hours before the polls closed, preliminary figures showed that at least 60% of registered voters cast their ballot for Ben Bella's list.

The only way to register opposition to Ben Bella was to abstain from the voting.

Rush To Vote

Men and women stood in line for hours outside polling stations in predominantly Moslem districts. Closing of the polls had to be put back by two hours to 8 p.m. as officials were unable to keep up with the rush.

More than two-thirds of the city's 300,000 European inhabitants have left the country, but many of those still here decided to vote to show their willingness to co-operate with the new Moslem state.

EUROPEAN FINANCIERS GIVEN A POINTED NUDGE

Washington (AP)—President Kennedy gave European financial leaders a pointed yet diplomatically-worded personal warning Thursday that they must do more to finance free world defense and development.

Addressing the annual meeting of the World Bank and International Monetary Fund, Kennedy coupled this with a statement that "speculation against the dollar is losing its allure"—to the point where "no extreme or restrictive measures are needed."

The President's expression of confidence in the current monetary situation echoed recent statements of many American and foreign finance ministers and central bankers attending the week-long sessions.

Speaks More Bluntly

But, in calling for a greater sharing of aid and defense burdens, Kennedy stated the proposition in terms more blunt than he has used in the past.

He reminded Europeans, for example, that they received $26 billion of U.S. economic aid during the post-war years —out of total overseas defense and aid outlays of $88 billion.

"The United States as a result no longer has a disproportionate share of the free world's gold, economic strength—or economic responsibility," he said.

Kennedy reminded his audience also that the United States could solve its balance-of-payments problem overnight by withdrawing troops stationed abroad, cutting foreign aid, raising tariff barriers, and retreating into isolation.

He added, however, that "the basic strength of the dollar makes such actions as unnecessary as they are unwise."

In his prepared text, Kennedy said speculation against the dollar "has lost its allure." But, in making the address, he changed the phrase to "is losing its allure." Still, he made evident his belief that the present monetary system requires no radical tinkering. He added, however, "this country will always be receptive to suggestions for expanding or improving" the operation and efficiency of the international payments system.

Bucket's Briquets Begin A Blaze In Hippes' Basement

A lawnmower and a toy blackboard were damaged by a fire in the basement of the home of Mr. and Mrs. John Hippe at 3607 So. 15th about midnight Thursday.

Asst. Fire Chief Curtis Kadlick said the fire apparently started by spontaneous combustion in a bucket of charcoal brickets.

Hippe said he had used the power lawnmower Thursday afternoon and then stored it next to the charcoal. Kadlick said the heat of the lawnmower motor probably ignited the charcoal.

Kadlick said that charcoal ignites easily and should not be stored in the home.

Mrs. Hippe told The Star, "We were really lucky. We had been sleeping about an hour when something woke us up and we smelled the smoke. We might have all been suffocated."

Crashes Claim 3 More Lives

...Beaver Crossing Woman Victim

Seward (AP) — A woman was killed and two other persons injured Thursday in a two-car crash at a county road intersection about 6 miles south and a mile west of here.

Deputy Sheriff Ed Bort identified the victim as Mrs. Melba A. Whitnah, 67, of Beaver Crossing. Her husband, Mark, 67, was critically hurt.

The driver of the other car, identified as Geraldine Pieper, 31, of Goehner, also was hospitalized. Bort said she did not appear critically hurt.

It was not immediately determined whether Whitnah or his wife was driving.

PRESIDENT BY POPULAR VOTE PROPOSED

. . . By De Gaulle

Paris (UPI) — President Charles de Gaulle moved Thursday night to bolster his regime against all attempts to overthrow it by proposing to the nation that the people elect presidents by direct popular vote.

He said in a nationwide radio and television speech he would ask the country soon to make the necessary change in the 1958 Constitution through a nationwide referendum he called "the most democratic means there are."

No Definite Date

De Gaulle did not set a date but it was expected to be Oct. 21 or Oct. 28.

De Gaulle said he proposed election of the president by direct popular vote not on his own behalf but only for his successors "either at the end of my own 7-year term or if death or sickness interrupt it beforehand."

De Gaulle's term will expire in January, 1966, when he will be 75 years old.

De Gaulle was elected by a college of about 80,000 "grand electors," consisting of members of both Houses of Parliament, local councilors, mayors of all the towns and villages and other notables.

G.I. Authorities Arrest Chicagoan, Released On Bond

Kearney (AP) — Yvonne Alvarez, 32, of Chicago, charged with grand larceny in connection with the theft of jewelry in Kearney, was released on $10,000 bond Thursday and was promptly arrested by Grand Island authorities.

She is similarly charged in Grand Island.

She was one of 4 persons linked to jewel and fur thefts in several midwestern cities.

Catherine Smith, 27, of Springfield, Ill., has been sentenced to the Women's Reformatory in York. Jean Ferguson, 30, Chicago, is in jail awaiting trial and James Rowe, 41, Chicago, is held in Lincoln on similar charges.

CAR PARKERS PARKED CARS ON STREETS

New York (AP) — "If I owned a parking lot, I'd probably do the same thing," A judge remarked Thursday. Nevertheless, he fined 16 operators for parking their overflow customer on city streets.

Some of the operators, it was charged in court, tore up parking tickets placed on customers' cars in the streets. The owners only learned of the tickets months later upon being cited as scofflaws.

Judge Edward J. Chapman levied fines totaling $785 against the 16 operators.

Small Norfolk Boy Is Killed

Norfolk (UPI) — Mike Becker, 2, Norfolk, was killed Thursday night when he apparently ran from the curb in front of his home between a car and the trailer it was pulling.

Mrs. Gary Lierman, 20, Norfolk, was driver of the car. Her husband said they stopped when they heard a noise and saw the little boy lying in the street. The trailer was loaded with lumber. A board lay near the child's body.

Mike is survived by his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Cletus Becker, and two sisters.

The death raised the Nebraska traffic toll to 265, compared with 227 on this day last year.

Demo Favors Given Estes, Says Curtis

Washington (UPI) — The two Republicans on the Senate Investigations Subcommittee charged in a GOP publication that evidence proves Billie Sol Estes received special favors from the Kennedy administration Agriculture Department.

The charge was made by Sens. Karl E. Mundt, R-S.D., and Carl T. Curtis, R-Neb., in "New Frontier News," a 4-page replica of a tabloid newspaper published by the Republican National Committee.

The news story containing the Mundt-Curtis charges also accused Agriculture Secretary Orville L. Freeman and "his cronies" in the department of using "the big lie technique," "whitewash" and "cover up" in the case of the now-bankrupt Texas farm magnate.

Probe In Recess

The Senate Subcommittee's investigation of Estes cotton allotment deals now is in recess, subject to the call of Chairman John L. McClellan, D-Ark.

The Republican publication quoted Mundt and Curtis on the Estes investigation in a front page story bearing the headline: "Kennedy New Frontier Outlaws Exposed."

Curtis said:

"Billie Sol Estes was a consistent contributor of large sums to the new frontier party coffers. He gave expensive suits and other gifts to Department of Agriculture officials. It was the top echelon in the Department of Agriculture who gave him favored treatment."

Mundt said the Agriculture Department was informed in early 1961 that Estes was buying cotton allotments from Alabama farmers for transfer to Texas.

Ever since that time, Mundt said, high Agriculture Department officials have engaged in a "consistent effort" to permit the Texan "to get away with his nefarious scheme."

Hossack Claims Future Is Still Great For U.S. 30

Lexington (AP) — U.S. 30 "still has a very bright future, and will continue to serve a major role as a traffic carrier in this region," despite the development of the Interstate, state highway engineer John Hossack said Thursday night.

Hossack, in a speech at a Highway 30 Association meeting here, said the Interstate is being built instead of widening existing highways because it would be virtually impossible to control access on existing roads. He said this is one of the main reasons for the Interstate system.

"Also, by putting the Interstate on new land we can save the old highways, which are in good condition except that they are too crowded, to serve towns, business and farms enroute. These old highways can also provide services which will not be permitted on the Interstate to travelers," he said.

Church Council To Look At More Cuban Resettling

The fall assembly of the Lincoln Council of Churches at their Thursday evening meeting voted to begin study of sponsoring more resettling of Cuban refugees in Lincoln.

This would be done, said the Rev. Carroll Lemon, executive secretary, through the Church World Service of the National Council of Churches and in connection with the other churches of the community.

The Catholic Church, he noted, has already begun such action.

"We would like to make it a community project, instead of one of our own," said the Rev. Mr. Lemon.

In other action, the council issued a statement opposing liquor by the drink in Lincoln.

Flamingos Dying Out

Nairobi (AP) — The Kenya Wildlife Society estimates natural disasters have reduced the world population of flamingos from about 5 million to 2 million in the past few years. About 90% of the world's flamingos are concentrated in East Africa's Rift Valley.

Lawn-Lovers Attentive At Weed Exhibit

The success of a project began last April was demonstrated Thursday to an attentive group of Lincoln lawn-lover.

Lancaster County extension agents Cyril Bish and Emery Nelson pointed out the success of various weed-killers on a test area at the Millard Lefler Junior High.

The project started April 19 when they applied the different weed-killers on small plots. Thursday they explained the results in a demonstration of the proper care of lawns.

While no one chemical killed all types of weeds, Bish, Nelson and others taking part in the demonstration agreed that Zytrom appeared to be the most effective.

Lincolnites brought various weeds for identification by Bish, Nelson and others taking part, including Bob Roselle and John Furrer.

Roselle is an entomologist at the University of Nebraska College of Agriculture, Furrer an extension agronomist at the Ag College.

Thieves Break & Enter 4 Churches

Thieves entered 4 Lincoln churches early Thursday and stole $62.60 worth of money and stamps, police said.

Entering Sheridan Lutheran at 37th and Sheridan Blvd. through a window broken, the thieves took $59. They broke into Westminster Presbyterian at 2110 Sheridan and Christ Methodist at 46th and A, but nothing was reported missing.

The intruders also broke into Congregation Tifereth Israel at 3219 Sheridan and made off with approximately 80 4-cent stamps.

NBC Says Cuba Has Released 2 Correspondents

New York, N.Y. (AP) — The National Broadcasting Co. reported that two American reporters have been released from jail in Cuba.

The pair, Raul Casunas of the New York Times and his wife, Sarita Valdez, of NBC news, had been held 11 days in a Havana jail.

NBC correspondent John Hlavacek reported from Havana that the Castro government apoligized and called their arrests "all a mistake."

Foreign Policy Legislation

By WILLIAM O. DOBLER

Much of the future of this nation's relationships with the rest of the world is being shaped these days in Washington by Congress. Three significant pieces of legislation are now in the works and their final disposition will have a lot to do with our success in the coming years of the cold war. The three vital matters are reciprocal trade, foreign aid and the purchase of United Nations bonds.

At least one of these measures is now assured, a second is all but certain and the third appears to be in some partial danger. Now in the hands of the President for his signature is a bill authorizing purchase by the United States of up to $100 million in U.N. bonds. The only limit up to that amount is that the U.S. purchase cannot exceed the combined purchase of all other nations. This limit, however, is expected to permit a full $100 million purchase as substantial amounts of the bonds have been either purchased or pledged for purchase by other member nations.

Purchase Of U.N. Bonds

Still a sticky question is the matter of U.N. support by the communist nations. While the World Court has said that all U.N. members are equally liable for the debts of the organization, it appears unlikely that Russia and her satellites will give the U.N. much support. Certainly the Reds will make no contributions toward those expenses incurred in connection with U.N. operations with which they disagree.

But despite this communist world refusal to meet its U.N. obligations, the United States has little choice if it wants to see the world organization continued. Certainly, the U.N. has not been the great success that many people hoped it might be but it has been far from a failure in the Western point of view.

The U.N. continues to be the one place where the aggressive nature of the communist world is given prominence. It is the one place where the subversive tactics of the Red empire have failed to make any inroads. The record of the organization on roll call votes continues to be heavily in favor of the West on matters affecting the vital and vulnerable spots throughout Africa, the Middle East and Asia. In addition to that, the Russians continue to lose in every effort to organize the U.N. along lines compatible with its totalitarian ideals. Russia has failed in a conspicuous manner to render the organization useless by the imposition of a "Troika" form of leadership. Our thoughts, then, in supporting the U.N. with bond purchases go to its successes, not to stubbornness of communist members.

Practically assured now with overwhelming approval by the Senate is the new trade measure proposed by the administration. A mere handful of seven senators voted against this historic piece of legislation. In this small minority was Nebraska's Sen. Carl T. Curtis while Sen. Roman Hruska was not recorded as voting. Had he voted, there is no question that Hruska, too, would have opposed the measure. With the legislation, the President will have the authority to cut existing tariffs by 50 per cent and in some cases to completely eliminate them. In the latter case will be found goods for which 80 per cent of all world trade is found within the United States and the European Common Market.

This is a measure that will open up to this nation a new market of millions of people. And the market is one in which there is a rising standard of living and a rapidly advancing economy. This will be a step that will see many changes on the industrial scene of America but the final outcome should be a tremendous boost for this nation.

With this one action, the United States is not only assured of an expanding market for its goods, but will become a closer partner politically with the free nations of Europe. Had the trade bill failed, it would have been a major victory for communism by providing the foundation for a firm split in the Western alliance of nations.

Foreign aid is the final piece of legislative work wanted by President Kennedy to complete his foreign policy program. A substantial cut has been made by the House in the original request and this may or may not be restored by the lawmakers in separate action or in joint conference. These three measures combined are solid evidence of the leadership provided by the United States in overcoming the menace of atheistic communism. They constitute an overwhelming display of this country's determination to see the forces of democracy victorious.

Three-Point Foundation

We have in these three bills an effective alliance with our friends and a helping hand for those nations which we hope will some day be strong members of the same alliance. The measures are an effective answer to Kremlin leaders who talk of "burying" the West and they form a challenge to communism in which we can have confidence. They give assurance and hope, too, to the free but still struggling nations of the free world which seek a future under democracy.

"We Are Determined To Fight Communism By Any Means Short Of Actual Spending"

Better Than Nothing

It was by the narrowest of margins, 202 to 197, that the House passed the compromise farm bill. But it is a good guess that the Senate will treat it more generously and that it will become a law.

The best that one can say of the measure is that it is more a victory for a principle than a detailed specific for a badly deteriorated farm economy. The principle is that true remedy requires first the elimination of surplus production. The bill grants to the secretary of agriculture the power to adjust price supports in order to eliminate overproduction, beginning in 1964.

The argument of the opposition that such broad discretion would break the producers harked back to the Benson philosophy which held erroneously that a poor price would drive out production. The present administration has held that producers would limit production if they could afford it. If thus the surplus could be eliminated the administration could help the producer to an equitable price in the market and then it could greatly withdraw as the producers by commodity groups themselves managed the supply — demand —price complex.

Suffice it to say that whatever the Congress is now doing, it should have done months ago. It cannot escape its measure of blame for the frustration and anxiety that has erupted in a widespread farm movement to seek equitable prices by direct collective action against the market. Whether this eleventh-hour fractional concession will be sufficient to restore farmer faith remains to be seen. The hour is growing quite late.

Most Useful Role

Nothing has given professional education such a start as the report that the office of U.S. Commissioner of Education may be given to Vice Admiral Hyman Rickover. The reaction lies somewhere between the Iriquois fire panic and the "Katie-bar-the-door" act.

Such a reaction is premature. No one in authority has yet even mentioned the possibility. The admiral himself has given no sign that he could be divorced from his great love, the atomic submarine. Moreover, the admiral must be aware that the office of education commissioner carries less authority than that enjoyed by a Seaman Second Class. It is not the sort of an opportunity that would appeal to a man who has become accustomed to giving orders and having them obeyed.

Admiral Rickover has been an effective critic of American education and a willing speaker on the subject. But this does not qualify him for educational command. There is a vast difference between pointing out educational needs and professionally effecting their remedy.

But the deeper issue lies in the definition of education. Admiral Rickover has one definition. American educators have another. The admiral sees an urgent need for deeper and broader training in the fields which come within his vision. In his austere conviction it could be that the broad based principle of education would be shrunk to the super training of a limited elite. The educators on the other hand attempt to educate for a balanced society.

For the present it would seem that the admiral's most useful position is that which he now enjoys, that of a competent gadfly by which there is the prospect that he will get more emphasis in the fields he advocates without throwing the whole educational system off the track.

Medical Aid Plans

Assuming sincerity on the part of the Nebraska State Medical Association, the organization is to be commended for its approach to the subject of medical aid for the elderly of Nebraska. Association President Dr. O. A. Kostal of Hastings stated in a meeting with Gov. Frank Morrison that his group wants a comprehensive medical care program under terms of the federal Kerr-Mills bill.

Persons in the 65-year-old age group and over, he said, "ought to be able to have complete medical care without being paupers." There is some difficulty in balancing these statements of principle with the facts on need as also presented by Dr. Kostal but the objectives of the association are laudable.

Dr. Kostal noted that medical assistance is needed by about 1,284 elderly people, or 1 per cent of those over 65. He pointed out that the number would approach 10 per cent of the elderly by 1970. These would appear to be most conservative figures but their accuracy is not of great significance in view of the medical group's stated intentions.

If this group follows the principles set down by Dr. Kostal, Nebraska will have a medical care plan that is adequate and those served will become a simple matter of record. It is not at all impossible to have an adequate plan under Kerr-Mills but it will require initiative on the part of the medical profession and others in steering a plan through the Legislature. The only advantage of the Social Security approach over Kerr-Mills was the mandatory nature of the former. If we voluntarily implement Kerr-Mills as an effective remedy rather than a minimal out, then there can be little disagreement among all factions having an interest in the problem of medical care for the aged.

DREW PEARSON

School Aid Via National Defense

WASHINGTON—A secret debate inside the House-Senate conference on college education has contrived to hand the Supreme Court a hodge-podge to unravel.

After three hours of haggling over federal aid to colleges and separation of church and state, nobody quite knew what the final result would be except for one thing—the buck has been passed to the Supreme Court.

The chief issue, deadlocking House and Senate conferees for four months, was whether to give outright grants to religious and private colleges. The House was adamant for grants, not to be repaid to the Treasury. The Senate argued that these violated the constitutional separation of church and state. It voted for loans. Even loans, some senators felt, might violate the constitution.

Although the federal money would go to any religious colleges, whether Protestant or Catholic, the majority of the religious colleges which would benefit are Catholic. Furthermore, Catholic pressure to pass the House bill has been heavy. There has been no pressure from Protestants.

One of the backstage pressure-putters has been gaunt, gray Speaker John McCormack of Boston, once called by Kennedy "The bishop of Boston." John has been phoning senators asking them to vote out a bill giving outright grants to religious colleges.

☆ ☆ ☆

When the showdown came behind closed doors this week, the Republican senators lined up solidly behind aid to Catholic colleges. GOP senators were: Goldwater, Ariz., Prouty, Vt., and Javits, N.Y. Jewish voters in New York have been strong for separation of church and state, brought the famous prayer case in Long Island on which the Supreme Court ruled recently. Javits, however, voted in secret against members of his own faith.

The compromise, hammered out after long closed-door haggling, was:

1. To permit outright grants up to $1.5 billion to religious schools to build buildings for science, libraries, and engineering. This is considered national defense, not religion. Some senators, however, argued that this merely permitted religious colleges to use federal funds for science and engineering, then divert the money thus saved for religious teaching.

2. To permit total scholarships up to $600,000,000 to students of both public and religious colleges, with 20% forgiveness to worthy students.

The money is to be spent over a five-year period.

Remarked one senator: "It's a jumbled compromise, and the Supreme Court will probably rule it all unconstitutional."

Remarked one congressman: "But by the time the Supreme Court rules out religious colleges, they will have spent their money and no court ruling is retroactive. The money will not have to be paid back."

DORIS FLEESON

Both Lodge And Kennedy Youthful

WASHINGTON—The Kennedys and the Lodges have treated Massachusetts like a rotten borough, and Massachusetts did not retaliate.

It has nominated Edward, 30, brother of the President and Attorney General Kennedy, and George Cabot, 35, scion of numerous Cabot Lodges, to oppose each other for the United States Senate this fall. Both nominees are strictly amateurs.

Edward Kennedy's record —elective, appointive, professional — approaches zero. George Lodge has had appointive federal jobs secured by virtue of the family connections, and they have all been in Washington.

This is strictly the business of the voters of the proud Commonwealth of Massachusetts. To those conscious of the enormity of the job of governing this country, it appears that they have acted irresponsibly. That is not new to the political scene nor can anyone say that, whoever is final victor, Edward or George, that he will automatically be the anchor man of the Senate. There are already many strong contenders for that title.

☆ ☆ ☆

The partisan outcry naturally centers upon Kennedy because his brother is President and that brother has named a brother attorney general. Also, Edward is the probable winner. There is already evidence that Republicans would rather have the issue than the Senate vote. George Lodge's fight would be uphill anyway and he will have trouble financing it.

It is doubtful that the public will be much alarmed by the dynamic issue unless Edward Kennedy as senator should fall on his face. This is doubtful. He has not put a foot wrong in his campaign so far and the family will shore him up with experienced aides.

Should the country's affairs take a really bad turn for the worse, then of course any stick will do to beat the President, including an overdraft on the family prestige.

A Massachusetts habit of apportioning the two Senate seats between its Catholics and its Yankees will help Edward Kennedy. The Yankees already have their man, Senator Leverett Saltonstall, for whom a losing George Lodge might be a logical successor if he can achieve some momentum.

What the state thinks about the export to Washington of what presumably is its best talents does not appear. It is not that its affairs, state or local, are in good shape. The exact opposite is true. Scandal is rife and indictments are pouring into the courts in a steady stream.

The state has lost population—one House seat this year—and, except for an expanding electronics industry, has economic trouble. Its cities have all the usual quota of urban-sprawl headaches.

It is not remarkable that the ambitious Kennedy-Lodge scions choose to make their names in another arena where the dead cats can be handled at arms' length.

Warning Of The Woolly Worms

By MONA B. PARKER

Don Waterman of the Osceola Record listed the variety of Nebraska weather that swung in and out of that part of the state in short order. There was rain, then cooler, then hotter, then a drop clear down to 38 degrees. Out came blankets, and on came furnaces. There were even a few winter coats to be seen. Then it rained again, and turned hot.

It's wheat-sowing time around Trenton, says the Register. And school time. Add the oil activity, and "sometimes in the afternoon, you get the impression that the town has been evacuated."

☆ ☆ ☆

Max Martin had the dire news that it just could be a long cold winter according to the woolly worms. The Pawnee Republican editor used to be informed on weather trends by someone who kept close tab on such matters by interpreting the color of the caterpillars. And the other day, one was brought in that was black from one end to the other.

Otto Elsik of Burwell wondered whether it was he who was mixed up, or some wild plums which he came across in his farm work. The bushes were in full bloom.

Romaine Saunders, in the O'Neill Frontier: "The prairie rose, a touch of beauty and fragrance here and there on our green-robed landscape. The Hand that hung the stars and sun on high reached to earth and gave us the rose, the goldenrod and many flowering beauties."

☆ ☆ ☆

The whir of a casting reel has always provided much sweeter music to Ed Krikac of the Comstock News than the chop-chop of a garden hoe, and he has never let a garden concern him beyond considering it a good place to dig fish worms. But he has finally admitted that there must be some satisfaction in raising good vegetables. One of his friends brought him potatoes weighing three pounds apiece, so big and so impressive that he allowed as how "even a dedicated garden-hater had to take notice."

Mrs. Roy Ahrndt of the Scribner Rustler showed no small amount of ingenuity when it came to finding something large enough to scald a bushel of peaches in. She scrubbed out the bathtub and put the peaches there.

It was nip and tuck between bean pot and raindrop out at Polk the day of the big celebration. It took quite a bit of courage to start the beans cooking, the Progress reported, while the rain was still coming down. But the fires were started, "the beans bubbled, the rain quit and 245 pounds of beans, plus 100 pounds of ham were cooked in seven large iron kettles and enough people showed up to consume 5½ kettles of them."

Everyone pronounced the flavor superb, the best yet. "Perhaps the good flavor was due to the extra dashes of rain which each pot collected."

It was quite a relief to all when the sun came out. "The cooks spent the first two hours of the morning wondering what to do with seven pots of beans if it kept on raining."

L. V. Petersen of Geneva retired about 15 years ago after farming for many years. "Retirement" consisted of building five houses to ease the housing situation there. He retired again after the fifth house. But recently he hasn't been feeling so good. His appetite was poor and he was just plain bored. So he decided to build another house, and is doing just that. He feels much better, eats heartily and would probably prescribe that others "build another house" too. Mr. Petersen is 81.

Editor Stan Samuelson of the Lyons Mirror-Sun has always had a sneaking suspicion that pipe smokers were completely unaware of the odor of pipes, and a recent experiment by a group of local bowlers convinces him it is true. When a member of the group was up at the line, the others filled his pipe with cut-up rubber bands. He returned, picked it up and puffed away, unperturbed, while the others coughed, choked and made for the door.

"Postcard" by Stan Delaplane is a positive delight. I have recently returned from a three-year tour in England and I find this article pleasing. When I was in London, I did so enjoy the Daily Express because it featured comics by Giles. Many are familiar with them. "Postcard" may not be appreciated as it should be, just as Giles' products were not easily understood.

I have started a scrapbook for a friend who was in London while I was there.

Out of Step

Lincoln, Neb.

It is inconceivable in times of such national crisis that the people of Nebraska should be represented in Congress by a man whose voting record borders on the ridiculous. Ralph Beermann, through his blind negativism and compliance with the policies of special interest groups, is no longer in step with the beliefs of his constituents.

By aligning himself with the Southern segregationists in Congress, Mr. Beermann has sought to deny to all citizens the full exercise of their constitutional rights. This is particularly evident in his staunch opposition to the poll tax amendment. The United States, acknowledged leader of the Western democracies, must seek to abolish, not perpetuate, a practice which is diametrically opposed to democratic principles. Certainly, Mr. Beermann's position on this measure in no way reflects the thinking of the majority of Nebraskans.

Moreover, by opposing the proposed appropriations for the National Aeronautics and Space Administration, Mr. Beermann indicates that he has failed to grasp the significance of the U.S. space program.

Nebraska and the nation need and deserve better representation than Mr. Beermann is capable of producing.

Visiting Court

Lincoln, Neb.

I am a retired business man. Several of my friends and I visit all the courtrooms just to see what really goes on.

We read an article about a judge who said "not guilty" to a friend who had failed to yield the right-of-way in a serious accident. Only last January or February, the judge in charge of traffic accidents fined all who were given tickets, and the officer had given tickets to about 20 offenders for not yielding the right-of-way.

Most of the cases concerned accidents on arterial streets, caused by ice and snow. Most of them with tickets were almost across the intersection, but the 35-mile speed and icy streets caused them to skid. No one who really ran into and damaged other cars was in court.

Then they were even forced to take drivers' tests. That is a pathetic situation. And it was required even if one had 30 years or more of driving without an accident. There were 20 questions to answer and those taking the test had never read or seen the manual. A miss of three questions out of the 20 meant they couldn't even drive their cars home, and they were treated as if they were criminals. Those passing the written tests then had to pass a driving test and it was all hand signals. How many cars today use hand signals?

A month ago there was a report on how many failed to pass drivers' re-examinations and this is why. I have seen truck drivers fail and many other first-class drivers who need their cars for work. The Motor Vehicle Department's form letter sounds as if the one taking the test is an A-1 criminal.

Our governor should take the teen-age speeders and drunks off the streets and roads. They are the ones who cause the accidents.

Loss Of Respect

Anselmo, Neb.

We never thought Fred Seaton would allow tricks and lies to be used in his campaign program. We have always respected him. Why will men allow themselves to be led into such dishonest actions as he and Mr. Denney have planned? It reminds us of the TV scandals when one of our respected professors agreed to the swindle to win the money.

We will all have to vote for Morrison. We have found him to be honest.

Adlai Wants U.N. Members To Pay

United Nations, N.Y. (AP) — Adlai E. Stevenson demanded Thursday that the General Assembly act to compel members to share all costs and keep the United Nations from acting like "a beggar in the street."

The chief U.S. delegate made the request in a major policy speech in which a referene to Cuba touched off a fiery response from its U.N. representative.

In a review of the world situation that opened his speech Stevenson charged that the Cuban government "with a moral and material support from outside, carries on a campaign of subversion and vituperation against its neighbors in the Western Hemisphere."

Mario Garcia-Inchaustegui, the chief spokesman here for Fidel Castro's regime, strode to the rostrum to exercise his rights of reply.

He declared that the United Staes in an atmosphere "of general hysteria" was planning aggression against Cuba. "Tell your generals," he added, "that more than 6 million Cubans will defend with more than sweet words the charter of the United Nations."

Stevenson made no reply in the Assembly. A spokesman for the U.S. delegation said of the Cuban charges: "it's hardly worth any comment."

Andrei A. Gromyko, the Soviet foreign minister, applauded the Cuban vigorously. This in contrast to his reaction to the Stevenson speech. Gromyko listened impassively to Stevenson, and did not join in the resounding applause at the end from most members outside the Soviet bloc. It will be Gromyko's turn to speak Friday.

Stevenson began his speech by pointing to trouble spots in "a dark and precarious world."

He said pressures and harassments against West Berlin "continue to rank as a most ominious threat to the peace of the world."

He asserted that peace in Southeast Asia is menaced by "illegal support across frontiers for an armed insurrection in Southeast Asia," he said the Chinese Communists "continue their policy of provocation, their acts of force and subversion."

In respect to the precarious financial position of the United Nations, he called upon the assmebly to accept the advisory opinion of the World Court holding that all members are obligated to pay for peace-keeping operations.

Artist's concept of how the Dyna-Soar will be placed atop Titan III booster for orbit.

U.S. Unveils Bizarre Appearing Dyna-Soar

Las Vegas, Nev. (UPI)— The United States Thursday unveiled the bizarre appearing X20 Dyna-Soar space glider designed to orbit the earth at 17,000 miles an hour, and introduced 6 new astronauts — one of whom probably will fly the X20 by 1965.

The plywood mock-up of the Dyna-Soar was displayed Thursday at the annual convention of the Air Force Association.

The X20 will make an unmanned orbital flight in 1964, with the first manned flight scheduled sometime in 1965, said Dr. Joseph V. Charyk, under-secretray of the Air Force. He said there would be some glide tests before the first orbit flight from Cape Canaveral.

The Dyna-Soar, engineers hope, will combine the best features of the short-flight, man-controlled X15 research plane and the Mercury space capsules which cannot be controlled like airplanes and complete landing via parachutes. The pilot of the Dyna-Soar will perform much as he would in a conventional aircraft in returning from orbit, at a time he can choose rather than on a ground signal.

"The X20 represents a new medium for exploration of space, hopefully for peace, but if need be, for preservation of national security," said Charyk, who was joined in the news conference by the astronauts and Gen. Bernard A. Schriever, commander of the Air Force Systems Command.

"The success of the X20 as with the X15," said Schriever, "depends in large measure on the skill of the men who have been designated to fly this research space vehicle."

The 35-foot long craft, appearing something like a combination manta ray and porpoise, will give America an important boost in the space program, said Schriever.

JFK To Address Demos In W. Va.

Washington (AP)—The Democratic National Committee announced President Kennedy will speak Sept. 27 at a rally of West Virginia Democrats at Wheeling.

The President's appeal in behalf of West Virginia Democratic Congressional candidates will be a follow-up to his speech at a fund-raising dinner in Harrisburg, Pa., in behalf of his party's Pennsylvania candidates.

It will be Kennedy's first appearance at such a statewide rally but he is expected to make several more such vote-seeking speeches between now and the Nov. 6 general elections.

Senate Completes Action On Legislative Branch's Funds

Washington (AP) — The Senate completed Congressional action Thursday on a $146,477,270 appropriation for pay and expenses of the legislative branch for the fiscal year which began 82 days ago.

Included was an unusual rider knocking out the past privilege of sending free "junk mail" to voters and constituents.

Sen. John O. Pastore, D-R.I., obtained passage of the compromise measure in a few minutes by volce vote without debate or discussion.

The ban on letters sent free under Congressional franks to "occupants" or "boxholders" without their names was a victory for Sen. John J. Williams, R-Del., who has tried to attach such riders to numerous appropriations in past years.

An effort to eliminate the rider in the House Wednesday was beaten on a 246-125 roll call vote.

Last year on the final night of the session the House passed an authorization for members of Congress to send this free mail to urban or city residents without listing their names. Previously the privilege existed for many years only on rural mail routes.

The new repealer eliminates both.

Congress thus far has completed action on only 5 of the 13 regular annual money bills.

Government departments and agencies, including the Congress, have been operating under stopgap resolutions passed for August and September.

The current bill carries just another $30 million for the Senate, more than $48 million for the House, $18 million for the architect of the capitol, about $19½ million for the Library of Congress and more than $26 million for the government printing office.

The fund for sending free or franked Congressional mail was just under $4 million.

Mourning Set

Amman, Jordan (UPI) — King Hussein proclaimed a 14-day period of mourning for the Imam of Yemen whose death was announced.

Renoir Missing; Lost Or Stolen

London (AP) — A Renoir was missing Thursday — lost or stolen.

Peter Wilson, chairman of the world famous art auction house, Sotheby's, notified Scotland Yard that a Renoir valued at $14,000 disappeared from the trunk of his car Sunday.

Wilson was driving to London from his country home when police stopped him to report the trunk of the car was open. The Renoir was gone but another valuable painting was still there.

For someone who might have found a seemingly dusty old painting in the road there's a reward of $1,400.

Heavy Hog Run As NFO Nears 3rd Week's End

Corning, Iowa (AP)—A heavy run of hogs at Omaha Thursday kept receipts at Midwest markets at about the same level as a year ago, as the National Farmers Organization's holding action on livestock neared the end of its third week.

An estimated 10,000 hogs were at the Omaha market, compared to 6,000 on the same date a year ago. Despite the large supply, butcher hog and sow prices were steady to strong.

Kansas City, East St. Louis, Indianapolis, St. Joseph, Mo., and Sioux City, Iowa, reported declines in hog receipts, with Chicago and South St. Paul, Minn., reporting receipts the same as a year ago and Peoria, Ill., reporting an increase of about 500 head. The total at the markets Thursday was 47,200, compared to 46,700 a year ago.

Cattle receipts at the same 9 markets declined, with an estimated 13,700 head Thursday compared to 17,700 head a year ago.

The NFO's harassment tactics at the John Morrell and Co. packing plant at Ottumwa, Iowa, were not resumed after pickup trucks snarled unloading of livestock there Wednesday night.

Two men were charged with malicious injury to a motor vehicle. Abraham W. Schippers, 44, of near Albia, and Donald M. Van Steemis, 20, of Ottumwa, pleaded innocent to the charges Thursday.

Officers did not say whether the men were NFO members, but about 50 NFO members accompanied Schippers when he was arrested.

Officers said about 100 light trucks carrying only one or two animals lined up on the street leading to the Morrell plant and blocked the way for large livestock trucks entering the plant. About 200 NFO members and several hundred spectators were in the area, officers said.

While the NFO's attempt to get long-range contracts and higher prices from processors of livestock and grain continued, NFO President Oren Lee Staley announced here that meetings have been set in 6 cities to determine if dairy producers wish to join the holding action and keep milk off the market.

Staley said dairy farmers who are members of the NFO would meet Friday night at Proctor, Minn., Hastings, Minn., and Canton, Ohio, and Saturday night at Winchester, Ill., Sauk Center, Minn., and Trempealeau, Wis.

OMAHANS, NFO ALLY FOR ANTI-RAT WAR

Omaha — Mrs. F. V. Lubischer of Omaha was named chairman of the Consumer-Farmer Better Relations Committee.

The CFBRC is an alliance of city residents and the National Farmers Organization to plan combat against "heavy rat and fly infestation."

The CFBRC's first action was compiling lengthy reports from homeowners of their 7-year battle to get City-County Health Department aid in cleaning up fly breeding places near feedlots and rat infestation in livestock feeding areas.

While homeowners charged health authorities with passing the buck, health department head Dr. Edwin Lyman defended Omaha Union Stock Yards' sanitation as "among the best in the nation."

Mrs. Lubischer told of previous efforts to secure pest relief. She said health authorities belittled each effort.

Mrs. Edward Mowinkel of Gretna, CFBRC vice chairman, said every means available would be used to inform the public in a move designed to get official action.

One committee member declared: "Many people are afraid to complain for fear of losing their jobs, but the farmers are right."

"This may be the start of a long-needed program of the farmer and working man joining forces on common problems," said a CFBRC official.

6 FLOOD-HIT N.E. COUNTIES GET $260,000

Gov. Frank Morrison Thursday signed an agreement providing for up to $260,000 in federal aid to 6 northeast Nebraska counties hit by floods in June.

The counties are Brown, Cedar, Dixon, Keya Paha, Knox and Rock.

The money will be used to replace necessary public facilities destroyed or damaged by the flooding.

The funds will come from the Office of Emergency Planning in Washington and be handled here by the State Civil Defense Office.

Prize: Jeweled Bikini

Acapulco, Mexico (AP) — A beauty contest for bikini-clads is being planned here for November. One prize is a jeweled bikini.

Morrison Told Loans To Frozen Farms OKd

The U.S. Department of Agriculture Thursday advised Gov. Frank Morrison it was authorizing the Farmers Home Administration to make emergency loans available to farmers in 14 western Nebraska counties hit by a severe freeze Sept. 7 and 8.

Loans will be available to eligible farmers through June 30 next year in the following counties: Banner, Box Butte, Chase, Cheyenne, Dawes, Deuel, Garden, Keith, Kimball, Morrill, Perkins, Scotts Bluff, Sheridan and Sioux.

Emergency loans are made to finance crop production and for other expenses involved in continuing normal farming operations.

Morrison said farmers can apply for loans from their local FHA county offices serving the area. Interest rates on the loans are 3%.

Eligibility

To be eligible for such a loan, a farmer must be unable to obtain credit from other sources and also have suitable experience and reasonable prospects for success as a farm operator.

A borrowing farmer must agree to repay the loan as soon as possible consistent with his ability to pay. Loans are secured by liens upon crops and other property.

Morrison said he is exploring other areas of relief available to the farmers whose crops were wiped out by the recent freeze.

Morrison said the freezing severely damaged all growing crops and especially corn, edible beans, soybeans and vegetable crops.

Kennedy Stumping For 'Progressive' Congress

Harrisburg, Pa. (UPI) — President Kennedy Thursday night kicked off a strenuous fall campaign to boost the Democratic majorities in Congress by urging election of a "progressive" House and Senate unafraid of new approaches to national problems.

Speaking to a $100-a-plate Democratic fund-raising dinner, Kennedy said while there had been measurable progress in the current Congress, much in the way of progressive legislation remained to be adopted.

In his remarks, Kennedy promised that with sufficient increase in Democratic Congressional strength, the administration would put across legislation which failed to win passage this year. He emphasized his determination to win Congressional approval of medical care for the aged and federal aid to education, including teacher salaries.

"To be sure, we did not obtain all that we asked," he told a capacity audience in the state farm show arena. "We lost measures that must be passed in the future. But to give those measures a chance, we need more Democrats elected to secure their passage."

Kennedy's primary purpose in Harrisburg was to support the candidates of Richardson Dilworth, former mayor of Philadelphia and now the Democratic gubernatorial nominee, and Sen. Joseph Clark who is seeking re-election.

The President's target area, however, was much broader than Pennsylvania. He proudly pleaded "guilty" to "disturbing the status quo, with stirring up the vested interests and with daring to try something new."

"I am not on the ballot in this Congressional campaign," he said, "but as President of the United States, I hold a great responsibility for the conduct of the nation's campaign for progress. And one fact is clear beyond dispute: that this country requires, if it is to move ahead, a progressive Congress — in short, a Democratic Congress."

Repeadedly he stressed that more than a political victory would be at stake Nov. 6.

"The American people must choose," he said, "whether this nation is to sail or anchor down—whether we are to step up the progress already made or return to deadlock and drift."

In the home state of his Republican predecessor, former President Dwight D. Eisenhower who lives only 35 miles away in Gettysburg, Kennedy painted a bleak picture of conditions when he took office.

"It was a cold day in January when this Democratic administration took office," he said, plainly emphasizing that he was not talking about weather conditions alone.

In fact, he went on to say at the time he took over from Eisenhower, "the nation's engine was idling . . . nearly 5½ million Americans were out of work . . . too many mines and mills were closed . . . unsuspecting housewives were sold harmful or worthless drugs . . . and the Congress and the President of the United States had for 6 years been deadlocked in divided, divisive, do-nothing government."

Kennedy did not mention Eisenhower's name, but he was unmistakably clear in his reference to conditions as they prevailed when the Democrats took over in 1961. He said world conditions were even more dreary than those at home.

Kennedy said other countries at the end of the previous administration doubted the deterrent strength of American defense posture because it was "hamstrung for budgetary reasons." Continuing to speak of the attitude of other nations toward this country, Kennedy said.

"They were not impressed by a space effort which dawdled along. They were unsure that we meant what we said about the equality of man and the urgency of peace."

The Pesident said that in the succeeding 20 months, there had been progress but admittedly not enough. He said, however, that "the stalemate has been broken—the deadlock os over—the decline in our position has at least been reversed and the country is moving forward again."

State Says Sorrell Dismissal Justified

The state Thursday told the State Supreme Court that Frank Sorrell had violated the law an that his dismissal by Gov. Frank Morrison from the State Liquor Commission was justified.

But Sorrell's attorney, Joseph Ginsburg, said he still didn't know specifically why the Syracuse realtor had been removed from the commission.

Ginsburg told the 7 justices during oral arguments Thursday morning the law does not say a liquor commissioner may not "render services to licensees." He said it is "the responsibility of a liquor commissioner to guide and advise licensees and this is done every day and is not a violation of state law."

Alleged Conflict

Morrison dismissed Sorrell, who was then chairman of the commission, last January for alleged conflict of interest. The state charged that Sorrell helped two persons licensed by the commission to dispose of their property, and that this amounted to employment by the licensees.

But Ginsburg argued that Sorrell had never been employed by the licensees, Mrs. Helen Giittenger of Talmage and Lloyd Copenhaver of Syracuse. In fact, Ginsburg said, Sorrell had declined to accept employment as a real estate agent for Mrs. Giittingen and Copenhaven.

Ginsburg said if the specific charge against Sorrell was for placing advertisements in newspapers offering for sale the licensees' property, then there was no violation of the law.

'Servicing Licensees'

He said Sorrell's relationship with the two was one of a commissioner servicing licensees.

Ginsburg further argued that the governor did not have the power to impeach Sorrell until there had been a trial before a competent court.

"A court must decide whether Sorrell violated the law," he said, "not the governor."

State attorneys said Sorrell was duly notified by Morrison of a hearing regarding the charges against him and that Sorrell was given proper notice of his dismissal.

House Balks At Student Aid In College Construction Plan

. . . SENDS IT BACK TO CONFERENCE TO DIE

Washington (AP) — The House balked at accepting any student aid in a college construction bill Thursday, sending it back to a House-Senate conference, where it is expected to die.

"I'd say it's dead," said Rep. Edith Green, D-Ore., who managed the bill on the floor. "I don't see that there's any chance for it."

She said also the action probably dooms all federal aid-to-education legislation for many years.

Southern Support

The 214-186 roll-call vote that sent the bill back to conference came on a Republican-sponsored motion that was also strongly supported by Southern Democrats.

Although Republicans directed their attack against the student-aid section, many Southerners are believed to have joined them because of the religious issue raised by a provision in the bill for federal grants to private as well as public colleges.

One-hundred and thirty Republicans and 84 Democrats voted for the motion to recommit and 156 Democrats and 30 Republicans voted against it.

Against It

Nebraska Reps. Phil Weaver, Dave Martin, Ralph Beermann and Glenn Cunningham all voted to return the bill to the conference committee.

Speaking to reporters after the vote, Mrs. Green said the religious issue was the chief cause of the defeat, and she blamed the National Education Association for raising it.

The NEA, largest national teachers' organization, sent telegrams to the members urging defeat of the bill because of the provision for federal grants to church-related colleges.

'Insisted'

During debate on the floor, Mrs. Green told the House an NEA lobbyist had "insisted" the House act on a bill to provide funds for elementary school construction and teachers' salaries before taking up the college-aid bill.

"He said it was because they felt only one bill on education had a chance and they wanted it to be theirs," she said.

"If they (the NEA) are successful in stirring up the religious issue on this bill and thus helping defeat it, I do not think we will see any education bill in this Congress in the foreseeable future."

5-Year Plan

The bill would authorize $1.5 billion in construction funds over the next 5 years, $900 million of it in grants and $600 million in 50-year loans at low interest rates.

The grants could be used only for building science and engineering facilities, and libraries.

The loans could be used for other classroom construction, but not for any facility connected with religion.

The student-aid section would authorize $600 million for loans over the 8 years, but each college could use 20% of its loan funds for outright grants, or scholarships to especially needy students.

The maximum loan would be $1,000 a year, but the college would determine the actual amount of each loan.

Bumper Pig Crop Likely

A bumper crop of baby pigs is shaping up for Nebraska this fall.

A total of 271,000 sows have farrowed or are expected to farrow in the state during the fall season (June through November), the largest total since 1933, the State-Federal Division of Agricultural Statistics reported Thursday.

Fall farrowings are two per cent larger than producers had intended as of June 1, and two per cent larger than last fall.

The 271,000 total compares with a 1933 total of 300,000, and will exceed the 1951-60 average of 192,000 litters by 41%.

If the fall litters are of about the same size as in recent years, the Nebraska fall pig crop would be near 1.9 million head. This would bring the 1962 pig crop to more than 4.5 million head, slightly larger than last year's crop.

Farrowings during the summer months of June, July and August are estimated at 117,000 sows, two per cent less than last summer.

As of Sept. 1, farms reported they intend to have 96,000 sows farrowed during the first 3 months (December through February) of the 1963 spring farrowing season, 5% more than the year before and 33% more than the 10-year average for the period.

The number of all hogs and pigs on Nebraska farms Sept. 1 was estimated at 3,178,000 head, down one per cent from a year ago.

Formation Of A State Rose Society Slated

Omaha — Rose enthusiasts will meet here Saturday afternoon to organize a Nebraska Rose Society. The meeting will be held in connection with the district rose show.

Glenn Viehmeyer, horticulturalist at the University of Nebraska North Platte Experiment Station and temporary chairman of the organization committee, says the meeting will be held at 3:45 p.m., Saturday at the First Federal Savings and Loan Building, 87th and Pacific Streets, Omaha.

State Show

Members of the Omaha Rose Society and the Lincoln Cornhusker and Capital City Rose Societies are co-operating in organizing the new state society in an effort to stimulate interest in roses throughout Nebraska and in organizing local societies. Current plans call for a newsletter to be published by the proposed society and development of a state rose show to be held in the center of Nebraska each year.

The new society would be affiliated with the American Rose Society of which there are 72 members in Nebraska who are not members of local societies.

Britain Must Join Common Market, Macmillan Insists

. . . Or Become A Pygmy Nation

London (UPI) — Prime Minister Macmillan said Britain must join the European Common Market or become a pygmy nation in a world of economic giants.

Macmillan appeared on a nationwide radio and television hookup to report on the just-completed Commonwealth prime ministers conference and on Britain's proposed entry into the European bloc.

"We shan't find the true strength we have and ought to have" if Britain does not join, he said. "We shan't be able to exercise it in a world of giants.

"All through our history, combined with all the immense outward growth of the British people all over the world, we have still been very much involved in Europe's affairs," he said.

"We cannot escape it. Sometimes we have tried to but we cannot. Now, it's no good pretending. Some people naturally feel like this, that we can go back to the old world before the war. A lot of people do look backward, but the real test you must bring to this question is —Are we going to look forward?"

He said there are two reasons for Britain seeking entry into the Common Market —political and economic.

"Politically, because we were very glad to see the end of Europe's quarrels," he said. "Quarrels in which we have been tragically involved throughout history. Twice in my lifetime . . ."

"And there is the economic argument. Economically, these are the facts. In the newly-developed countries of Asia and Africa and all the rest of the Commonwealth, if they are to have a really good chance, a fair chance, they must sell at least some of their manufactured goods to the advanced countires . . ."

REASON FOR WARNING

Explosions Mar Parade Honoring Ghana's President

Accra, Ghana, (AP) — Two explosions went off in a torchlight procession in honor of President Kwame Nkrumah, killing a small girl and severely wounding several other persons.

It was the third time since Aug. 1, when a bomb near Nkrumah's car in Kulungugu killed 4 persons, that crowds of the president's supporters have been terrorized by bombings. Two weeks ago a bomb went off in a crowd near Nkrumah's home, killing 3 persons.

The new blasts came during celebrations in honor of Nkrumah's birthday. The crowd ran for shelter.

The scene of the explosions was immediately cordoned off and police patrols were posted along the main streets leading to the spot.

Ghana Radio announced that all processions planned for Friday to mark the birthday celebrations had been canceled. No reason was given.

Nkrumah has not appeared before the public since the Aug. 1 bombings which were branded as an assassination attempt. In the eyes of many Ghanaians, Nkrumah fears for his life.

The National Assembly has adopted a motion asking Nkrumah to remain on as president for life.

The football guests we have in mind at the moment will be Dr. and Mrs. Neal Davis, Mr. and Mrs. Jack Filkins, all of Omaha; and Jack McClendon who comes from New York City, via Omaha. Mr. McClendon is the director of the Clarkson Hospital Style Show, planned for Oct. 5.

But on with the story — The fivesome we just mentioned are to be the game guests of Mr. and Mrs. Carl H. (Ky) Rohman who also will entertain the visitors at the Lincoln Country Club's post-game festivities.

Early this month, Country Club Manor residents received a "busload" of anonymous invitations. The curious guests are invited to appear at Gateway this evening where a bus manned by their mysterious host will take them to their unknown destination.

Guests are promised dinner, but who knows??

A not-so-mysterious party was given by Mrs. Robert W. Eikleberry yesterday. The afternoon dessert was to introduce Clair Callan, congressional candidate. A group of 18 rallied around the honored guest.

CHATTER -in the- CORRIDOR

By SANDIE LAW

Confusion and being late to classes started the first day of school off in great fashion. Now after a few days, everyone, including the 600 new sophomores, seems to have found the rooms and have become accustomed to half-hour lunch periods and the five minute passing periods. Welcome to LNE, sophomores, and good luck.

In addition, 10 new teachers were added to the faculty. I also would like to give you a big warm welcome to LNE.

Ruth Ann Wiest was hostess at a slumber party September 6. About 15 girls were invited for the near sleepless night but were perky and wide awake for the LNE-LSE game the next night. After the LNE-LSE game, Pam Alles had 15 girls attend a slumber party at her home.

Ann Gordon was the hostess at a farewell party Thursday, September 13, and the honored guest was her neighbor, Ray Elkin, who moved to California last week.

Everyone is getting prepared for the football season. The Northeast Majorettes and the band are practicing and learning new steps for halftime entertainment. The 1962-63 Majorettes are Diane Garcia, Carol Heilman, Anita Purdy, Mary Renaud, Judy Stansbury, Terry Vifquain, Margaret Vrana, and Judy Young. The drum major is Phil Lyon.

September 11, the Northeast team was host to Southeast in a reserve game. The score was 6-6.

The Lincoln Northeast cheerleaders were hostesses at a pre-game dinner for the Fremont cheerleaders. The dinner was at Donna Staberg's house on September 15.

After our first victory over Southeast and our second one over Fremont, the Rockets are ready for victory Number 3 over Grand Island on Saturday, Sept. 22. The co-captains for the LNE-Fremont game were John Thompson and Les Tyrrell. The co-captains for the LNE-Grand Island game are Art Scott and Steve Hamilton. Good Luck team!

Northeast is striving for fewer cavities. It seems that the Northeast girls are carrying toothbrushes and toothpaste in their purses so they can brush their teeth after they eat at noon.

Also in the fad line are the new flip dolls: football players in the different school colors. There are also numbers that the girls are able to put on their dolls so they will represent their favorite player.

That's it for now. See you next week!

Why Grow Old?

Questions, Answers

Josephine Lowman

A reader who is not permitted to do strenuous exercise, might thin her waist with this easy, stretching exercise.

Q. "I am a girl, 14 years old. The thing is my hair is very thin. Friends have told me, 'You know, you're getting bald.' Well, they don't seem like friends to me after that! I noticed this myself about nine months ago, though. Could this be from a bad diet or teasing or heredity? My hair is baby fine.

A. Thinning hair can be inherited, but I think you are too young for that factor now. Sometimes some abnormal physical condition will cause this and often the cure is very simple. Go to see your family doctor and talk to him about this. If he feels that you need to do so, he will suggest you see a dermatologist (skin specialist). At your age, I believe something can be done about it. Heavy teasing, especially when the hair is fine is damaging.

Q. "I am 47 years old and want to lose a little from my waist, but due to a heart condition I cannot take strenuous exercises. What can I do?"

A. You are not overweight if you have a medium frame. Therefore I cannot tell you to count calories. Ask your doctor if you can do the two following exercises. Lie on the floor on your back with your arms resting on the floor overhead. Keep your hips on the floor as you "walk" with your heels as far to the left as you can. Lie in this position for a few minutes. You will feel the stretch along the waistline. Now walk back to place with your heels. Do the same thing but walk to the right. Continue, alternating.

Stand with your left side toward the wall and place your left hand on the wall. Raise your right arm up by your right ear. Bend toward the wall touching the fingertips of your right hand to the wall. Raise your trunk. Stand far enough away from the wall so that you feel the pull at the waist when you bend. Continue.

After a while turn your right side toward the wall, raise your left arm up by your ear and bend. Hold the arm by the ear.

Q. "I am 5 feet, 8 inches tall and weigh 150 pounds, I am 16 years old. There is a big dance coming up. I have tried everything to lose but I can't do it. I try to do the right exercises all the time and it doesn't help a bit. My thighs bulge and my stomach sticks out. Everybody around me says to me, 'Hi, Fatty'."

A. You did not mention the most important thing — avoiding all inbetween-meal snacks, substituting fresh fruit for dessert and refusing second helpings. These three simple measures will probably do the trick.

TEST YOUR PLAY

You are West, defending against Four Spades, and this is what you see after leading the king of hearts:

♠ A K 10
♥ 10 6 3
♦ K 7
♣ Q J 8 6 2

♠ 5
♥ K Q 9 7 4
♦ A J 8 3
♣ A 7 5

N W E S

The bidding:

South	West	North	East
1 ♠	Dble	Redble	Pass
2 ♠	Pass	4 ♠

South wins the king with the ace, East playing the five, and cashes the A-K-10 of spades, East playing the 4-2-6. Dummy then plays the two of clubs, East the four and declarer the king. How would you defend the hand?

Answer. You really have to put your thinking cap on for this one. The first thing to decide is whether to take the club, but before you can make an intelligent decision on this score, you must have a rough idea of what the declarer's hand might be that would allow the contract to be defeated.

Naturally, you dismiss from your mind any hand that makes four spades impregnable. You can't afford to acknowledge defeat before you start. So all your thinking at this point is devoted to constructing a hand South can have that lends itself to defeat.

You know, both from the bidding and East's high-low in trumps (showing three of them), that South started with exactly six trumps. He therefore has ten tricks in sight if you take the ace of clubs—provided he is given time to cash them. They would consist of six spades, two clubs, a heart and a diamond.

However, it may be that your side can grab four tricks before declarer takes ten if the cards are favorably divided for you. They would necessarily consist of two hearts, a diamond and a club—and that is the only practical layout you can hope for to beat the contract.

Taking two heart tricks is possible in only one case, namely, when your partner started with specifically the J-5 of hearts. Since this possibility is virtually the only one that offers a chance, you should play on that basis.

Win the king of clubs with the ace and lead back a low heart. If the situation is as you hope, this play will defeat the hand. East wins with the jack and returns a diamond to your ace. You then cash the queen of hearts for the setting trick.

In the actual case, declarer had: ♠QJ9873 ♥A82 ♦Q5 ♣K3 and was defeated by the low heart return.

Dear Abby

DEAR ABBY: We have a daughter who is 34 years old. She graduated from the State University so you know she is no dummy. She has been going with a divorced man for the past five years. According to her they have no plans for marriage. This man told our daughter that the best check he writes out every month is the one for his alimony, and he doesn't care to get married again. Our daughter is satisfied just to "go" with him. She has her own apartment and is self-supporting, but we think someone ought to tell her that "going" with a man with no marriage in sight is not respectable. Or do you think it is?

CHARLESTON

DEAR CHARLESTON: It is your daughter's privilege to "go with a man" if she chooses. Whether it is "respectable" or not depends on where she goes with him . . . and how far.

☆ ☆ ☆

DEAR ABBY: When I was hired for this job I wasn't told that I would have to take vitamin pills every morning. Our boss is a real nut on the subject and she stands right over your desk to make sure you take the vitamin pills. Now I am 33 years old and I don't need anyone to tell me what's good for me. These pills come up on me (excuse me) and I have a very disagreeable taste in my mouth all morning. Must I quit a good paying job over something so foolish?

ANTI-VITAMIN PILLS

DEAR ANTI: Tell your boss (confidentially) that the pills disagree with you and I'm sure they won't be "brought up" (excuse me?) again.

☆ ☆ ☆

DEAR ABBY: My wife's parents live downstairs and we live upstairs. Every evening her old man comes up here and asks if we are through with the newspaper. Sometimes we are and sometimes we aren't, but we always give it to him just to be nice. If a page is missing I get a telephone call and have to hunt it up and bring it down. I don't dare to work the crossword puzzle because her old lady likes to do it. And my wife can't tear anything out of the paper because we get a beef if something is missing. Who should tell them to buy their own paper? Since they're my wife's parents, I think it's her job. Right?

BURNED UP

DEAR BURNED: Wrong! Buy your in-laws a yearly subscription to the newspaper for their Christmas, anniversary or birthday presents.

DON'T SETTLE FOR ANYTHING LESS THAN THE BEST

POSTCARD by Stan Kalapland

South from Zurich, the Swiss electric train (it has a smoothness of one of those Marklin miniatures) runs into St. Gotthard tunnel. When it comes out, you are in the Swiss-Italian lake country.

On the northern side of the St. Gotthard pass, the inns are little log cabins and scroll work houses with a feeling of the Black Forest. They are labeled "gasthaus." Street signs are in Swiss-German.

The Swiss Alps are spiked with pines. Torrents of white water fall down the gray, rocky peaks (making hydro-electric power) into green Alpine meadows with peaceful dun-colored cows (making Swiss milk for Swiss chocolate).

☆ ☆ ☆

On the southern side of the tunnel, you come out on a gentle downward grade.

The inns are labeled "albergo" and the street signs are Italian.

The sun is warmer and the buildings are plastered in Mediterranean pastels of green and pink and chocolate.

At the very foot of this rich-as-pizza land, a finger pokes into Italy. The little town is Lugano—certainly my favorite in all Switzerland.

☆ ☆ ☆

"And that is why," said Mr. Pietro Bindella, "I cannot understand why Americans don't come more to Lugano."

Mr. Bindella is chief of Prolugano, the tourist bureau. He said this season, they have sold 1½ million tourist nights.

"Who comes here most? The Swiss. The Swiss account for 38% of our visitors. Next are Germans, 18%. English 17%. French 11%, Italian 10%, Dutch and Belgians, each 8%.

"Do you know how many Americans come to Lugano?"

How many, Mr. Bindella?"

"Only 4%! Americans," said Mr. Bindella moodily, 'go to Lucerne. They are mad for towns that look like cuckoo clocks. They adore Berne where little parades of wooden figures come out of the town clock when it strikes. They go to Geneva — which is so near to France that Switzerland had to rent land from France to extend the jet runway.

"They come from the north and go right past us to Milan and Rome."

☆ ☆ ☆

It is a great trial to Prolugano. But very nice if you are a visiting American.

Lugano is a beautiful little town on the lake that sticks out at either end into Italy. Green mountains rise from the shoreline. And little sparkling-white Swiss-Italian villages cling to the sides—served by swan-like electric boats and cog-wheel electric railways that mount steeply to your home.

The life of the town centers on a cobbled piazza.

It is a stage set town. The piazza faces the town hall. It is banked on three sides with restaurant tables, shaded by blue-and-white umbrellas.

In the sunny mornings beside the lake, you take coffee topped with foam cream sprinkled with chocolate and watch the town being scrubbed down. The waiter asks your order in Italian. Takes it in English. Thanks you in German. And asks if you want anything else in French.

☆ ☆ ☆

In the evenings, the white boats, edged with white neon lights, go sailing through the lake to towns with names like Italian songs — Ponte Tresa, Porlezza, Paradiso, Campione.

Music rises from the decks. Violins play in the piazza. And rich Italian pasta smells float from the open windows of the restaurants.

It is a wonderful town. The 4% Americans who come here have found something.

U.S. To Deport Curt L. Ponder, Espionage Agent

Washington (AP) — Curt Leopold Ponder, convicted of espionage while serving as an interpreter at the Nuremburg war crimes trials, will be deported to Austria.

The Justice Department, announcing this, said Ponder, 39, was released from the federal penitentiary at Atlanta, Ga. Wednesday after serving more than 9 years for conspiring to turn over defense information to the Soviet Union.

He was sentenced in 1953 to 5 to 15 years after being convicted in U.S. court for the District of Columbia.

A native of Vienna, Ponder was naturalized as a U.S. citizen after army service in World War II. His naturalization was revoked in 1957 and he was ordered deported upon completion of his prison sentence.

Ponder and his brother-in-law, Otto Verber, also a naturalized citizen, were co-defendants. Verber also was convicted and was deported to Vienna in 1960 upon completion of his sentence.

War News: Minuteman Fires In 32 Seconds; Nuclear Blasts Sensed

Las Vegas, Nev. (AP) — Two new developments in missile warfare and defense were disclosed Thursday at the Air Force Association convention.

1. A general said in a speech that the reaction (firing) time of the solid fuel intercontinental Minuteman missile — never before publicly disclosed — is only 32 seconds, compared with up to 15 minutes for the liquid fuel Atlas.

2. The Air Defense Command announced that a nuclear bomb explosion-sensing system has been set at 99 critical target areas of the United States.

SAC Chief

Disclosure of the actual time it takes to fire silo stored Minuteman missiles came in a speech by Lt. Gen Hunter Harris, vice commander in chief of the Strategic Air Command.

Missiles "cannot be recalled in case of spurious warning" Harris said, "they probably would have to ride out the initial attack.

"That is why SAC's missiles are being emplaced in widely dispersed and well hardened (armored) sites. Dispersal and hardening together with fact reaction — some 32 seconds for the Minuteman — will give our programmed missile force sufficient survivability to make it a highly effective deterrent."

Victory

He expressed confidence that "our strategic forces possess the capability to achieve a decisive military victory in a nuclear war".

The nuclear bomb alarm system was announced at a news conference.

The Air Force said the system, built and maintained by Western Union, will provide almost instant notice of a nuclear detonation to several vital command posts, including the Pentagon.

Sooner

Lt. Gen. Robert M. Lee said, "the bomb alarm system will provide information that targets have been hit minutes sooner than we can expect from our normal communications systems. This information will assist authorities in making decisions that could spell the difference between survival and annihilation.

"It will also provide a few vital minutes in which to get aid on the way to stricken areas. These minutes could make the difference in saving thousands of lives."

The Air Force said the system does not provide advance warning of a nuclear attack but would verify impact areas predicted by the Ballistic Missile Early Warning System.

First Notice

It also would provide the first notice, the Air Force said, of attack by Submarine-launched missiles traveling too low to be detected by the nation's far-flung radar screen.

Red lights behind glass display maps in military command centers would light up to indicate what targets had been hit.

Special optical sensors are located around target areas. They can not be triggered falsely by lightning or fire, only by certain light waves peculiar to nuclear blasts, the Air Force said.

Officials said the sensors were located at critical industrial areas, key military bases and heavily populated areas.

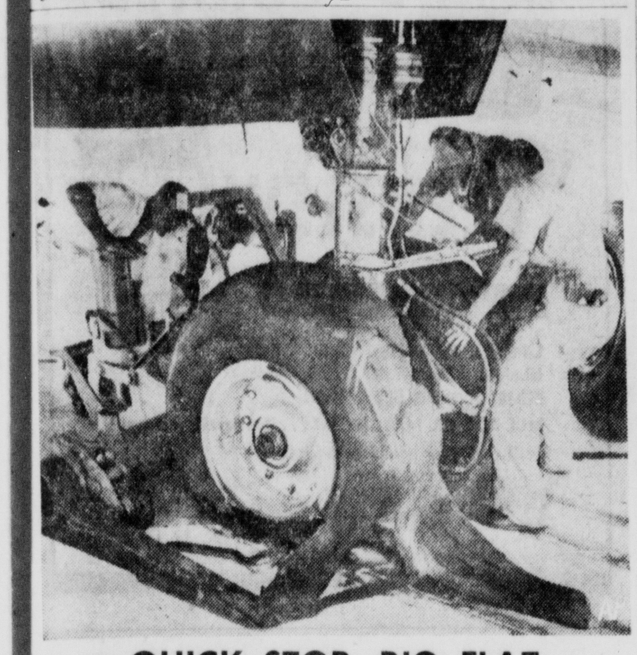
Each target area has 3 sensors, 120 feet apart, set in a triangle. Each sensor has a 19-mile range.

In a given target area, one sensor sends its data to the Pentagon, one to the Strategic Air Command at Offutt Air Force Base, Omaha, and one to the Air Defense Command at Colorado Springs, Colo.

Complete Checks

The Air Force said the system is completely checked every two minutes to guard against sabotage or electrical failure. The 3 sensors at each site work independently of each other.

Spokesmen said the system cost $750,000 to install, is routed over 25,000 miles of circuits and costs $4 million a year to operate.



QUICK STOP, BIG FLAT

U.S. Working On Flight To Mars

Vienna, Austria (AP) — Dr. Glenn T. Seaborg, head of the U.S. Atomic Energy Commission, said Thursday the United States plans to send a manned nuclear space ship to Mars in the 1970s.

Seaborg told a panel of scientists at the general conference of the International Atomic Energy (IAEA), that the space ship will carry "a couple of men to land on Mars for a one-month exploration and return them to earth in a one-year trip."

He said the first test flight is planned for 1967.

Seaborg said tests conducted at the Nevada nuclear rocket test site indicated that nuclear power could be developed to such a degree that it could hurl rockets carrying high payloads to the moon and even beyond to other planets.

One of the main objectives of a current series of tests, he said, is "manned missions to mars and their return to earth."

Nuclear power, Seaborg noted, offered the advantage of considerably greater thrust than chemical fuel presently in use.

He said that nuclear fuel, however, posed "serious material problems" because of the enormous temperature ranges under which space rockets come in flight.

The Nevada tests, Seaborg said, have indicated success in experimental use of nuclear power for rockets.

He said nuclear power could also serve as auxiliary power to motor apparatus in rockets, as it is the case with the American Transit IV — a satellite which completed its first year in space last June.

A process called "System for Nuclear auxiliary Power" turns radioactive decay into electricity, Seaborg said.

DAZZLING DEXOL BLEACH DRENCHES YOUR CLOTHES WITH LIGHT
washes in the brightness and whiteness liquid chlorine bleaches wash away!

What makes brand-new clothes so bright? Fluorescers — tiny particles that reflect light like a million mirrors. Liquid chlorine bleaches destroy many of these fluorescers, yellowing new whites, fading deep colors. ■ But Dexol is different! Instead of destroying fluorescers — Dexol actually contains its own fluorescers that brighten clothes a little bit more with every washing. Whites become whiter than new, colors get brighter and brighter when you let dazzling Dexol drench them with brilliance. And Dexol's fluorescers work on any fabric—cottons, linens, woolens, synthetics—even the silks you never dared bleach before. Because Dexol is safe—safe for all colors, for all your washable fabrics. ■ Make Dexol a washday habit; it's the bright way to bleach.

Pari-Mutuel Taxes 'Hardship' For Fair

By BETTY PERSON
Star Staff Writer

State Fair Board Secretary Ed Schultz stated in his 1963-65 budget request Thursday that the $93,452 paid to the state in taxes on pari-mutuel betting has "caused a great hardship" at the Fairgrounds.

"We cannot keep state-owned grounds and property in proper order and repair without receiving at least part of the $93,000 back," Schultz said.

Thus, he explained, the State Fair Board was asking for $64,000 for the coming biennium in its main property tax-supported general fund account, an increase of $34,000 over the 1961-63 appropriation of $30,000.

The 1959 Legislature passed a law imposing a 2% tax on the gross sum wagered in pari-mutuel betting on horse races. The tax is applied only on gross sums over the $1 million mark.

Blood, Sweat and Tears

"For the past two years this organization has sweat blood and tears worrying if we are going to have to ask for a special allotment from the Legislature to pay our obligations," Schultz said.

Salaries have gone up, he said, and more employes have had to be added. Maintenance of buildings and grounds "is a terrific burden" because "buildings are old, roofs need repairing and plumbing is a great expense."

The state "has not helped on maintenance at all, even though we have asked for aid," he continued.

"Now it is imperative that this organization be given just due and consideration and their request be granted. We are not asking for state aid, just for part of the money that we have turned into the State of Nebraska," Schultz said.

The total budget included requests for $16,000 from the general fund for premiums for Boys' and Girls' 4-H Club work, and $4,000 for other State Fair premiums — the same amounts appropriated for the current biennium.

Liquor Budget Up

One other budget request was submitted to the state tax commissioner Thursday—that of the Nebraska Liquor Control Commission which is seeking a total of $541,171 for the next biennium.

Of that amount, $505,171 is requested in general fund monies, compared with $434,612 appropriated for the current biennium.

The commission said it plans to add 3 auditors for investigative purposes, as well as employing special auditors from time to time, because it believes "more care needs to be taken in regulating wholesaler-retailer activity."

This will add $35,000 in salaries and $15,000 in operating expenses, the commission said.

$100,000 School Bond Vote Likely At Walton

A $100,000 school bond election petitioned for by Walton residents in an attempt to retain their high school probably will be held sometime this fall.

However, no definite date has been set for the election ordered by the Walton Board of Education upon receipt of a petition carrying signatures of at least 10% of the residents as provided by law.

The issue, which would finance the construction of a 6-room building, is an effort to counteract the State Board of Education's disapproval of the school this year because of 8 alleged violations of the state's minimum standards.

Immediately following the state board's action, residents took steps to retain operation of the high school, and the District Court temporarily enjoined the state board so that Walton could operate this year.

Only 23 students were enrolled at the beginning of this year compared to about 39 last year.

Omahans Injured As Car Hits Ditch

Two Omaha men were released after treatment at Bryan Memorial Hospital Thursday afternoon after their car rolled into a ditch on U.S. 6.

The Nebraska Safety Patrol said Louie J. Marcuzzo, 21, lost control of the car as he tried to pass on the right a car making a left-hand turn. Marcuzzo and a passenger, Louis Noble, 27, suffered cuts and bruises.

The accident occurred a mile and a half northeast of Lincoln shortly after 3 p.m.

Lincoln-Milford Interstate 80 Paved

A major segment of Interstate Highway 80 in eastern Nebraska was completed Wednesday by construction crews.

A start was also made on another segment in central Nebraska.

The State Highway Department said the Abel Construction Co. of Lincoln closed the gap on a 4-lane paving project between the Lincoln Air Force Base turnoff and the Neb. 15 interchange north of Milford.

Shoulder work will take another 4 to 6 weeks before the Lincoln-Milford segment can be opened to traffic.

L. O. Graham, construction engineer for the department, said the plans are to open the stretch of road this fall.

The Missouri Valley Construction Co. of Grand Island started work Tuesday on a 125-mile $2 million paving project from Shelton west to the Newark interchange near Kearney.

Grading crews had worked for nearly a year constructing the roadbed.

Diamond Engineering Co. workmen have completed 3 county road overpasses and bridges.

A large dredge is at work building the grade for the Newark interchange and is expected to finish the work in about two weeks.

Graham said there is no chance the Shelton-Newark segment will be open to traffic this year.

But he said it appears certain the segement from the Grand Island interchange west about 10 miles to the Wood River interchange will be completed.

Foreign Language Classes Begin Saturday At NWU

The 12th year of foreign language classes for elementary school children will begin Saturday at Nebraska Wesleyan University with registration.

Classed in French, German and Spanish will be taught this year for children in the third through sixth grades, according to Mrs. Katherine Brown, Nebraska Wesleyan language professor.

Each class will meet for 50 minutes every Saturday morning during the school year, Mrs. Brown said. Registration fee is $5.00 per semester.

Student teachers at Nebraska Wesleyan, under the close supervision of Mrs. Brown and Professor Patricia Rieper, will instruct the children.

Children are taught to speak, sing, and play in the language before they become acquainted with the written word, said Mrs. Brown. "Flash-cards, films, pictures and other aids are used to stimulate interest in the class."

Parents should register their children between 10-12 Saturday morning in the C. C. White Building.

HOW TO LIVE IT UP ...for less

The secret's this: live in the good new U.S.A.

Americans enjoy a higher standard of living—especially a higher standard of eating—than ever. And—food costs a smaller part of our pay (about 20%) than either prewar or postwar.

In fact, if we wanted to eat the same food products we ate before World War II, our food would only cost us 16% of our pay. But we eat much better than we used to. More variety, more time-saving convenience foods and overall quality products than ever.

FOOD IS A BARGAIN

An hour's work will buy more food in America than at any other place or time in history.

Weatherly Wins 3rd Race In America's Cup Series

Newport, R.I. (UPI) — Gretel, after being defeated Thursday in the 3rd of the America's Cup races, signaled for a one day postponement.

Under the rules, it was meaning the 4th race will be held Saturday.

Skipper Bus Mosbacher took Weatherly out to sail Thursday in the light breezes she likes best and the U.S. defender just glided away from Australia's Gretel in the 3rd race of the America's Cup series.

The victory gave Weatherly a 2-1 lead in this best 4 out of 7 competition for yachting supremacy.

Jock Sturrock and his crew on Gretel were about a mile back as the blue-hulled American 12 meter sloop came over the finish line before the smallest spectator fleet crowd yet—only about 150 boats.

Mrs. Jacqueline Kennedy was out for the whole race, watching from the destroyer USS Joseph P. Kennedy Jr.

Weatherly won by the margin of 8 minutes and 43 seconds. It took 4 hours, 21 minutes and 16 seconds for her to complete the 24-mile course of 4 6-mile legs.

Gretel got off to a far better start than Mosbacher who is supposed to be the champ at starting. But that was the only time the Aussie was ahead all day.

The wind told the story. It dropped down to only about 3 knots at one time and never got above 10. Under those conditions, Gretel doesn't move fast — Weatherly does.

After Thursday's race, Gretel signalled that she did not want to race today. That means the 4th encounter will come at noon Saturday. The Aussies no doubt were hoping for stronger winds by then.

Sturrock got his boat out 6 lengths ahead of Mosbacher at the start. He was 75 seconds ahead getting over the line.

But from then on it was a bad day for the men from down under. After about 5 minutes, Weatherly caught up. Within 8 minutes after the start, she had taken the lead.

Sturrock started a rapid-fire series of tacks. Mosbacher covered each one. The Australian boat could not get to windward of Weatherly but she held up fairly well and was only 59 seconds behind as they rounded the first marker.

But then it was that Gretel suffered embarrassment.

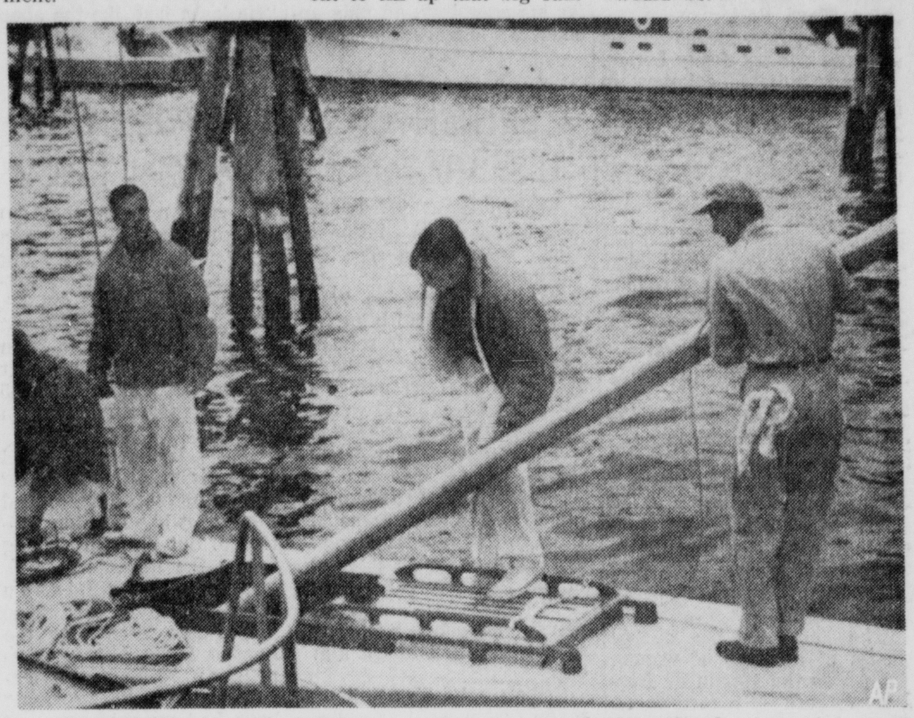
Both skippers broke out the ballooning spinnaker sails. They appeared almost identical — dark blue on top, light blue on bottom.

Mosbacher kept Weatherly 225 yards ahead and, while Gretel was not losing distance, she was not gaining. Sturrock then broke out an even bigger spinnaker — a gaudy red, yellow and grey job.

It was a mistake. The winds kept dropping and they were just not sufficient to fill up that big sail. It drooped and flapped and the boat slowed down so it resembled the painted ship on a painted ocean.

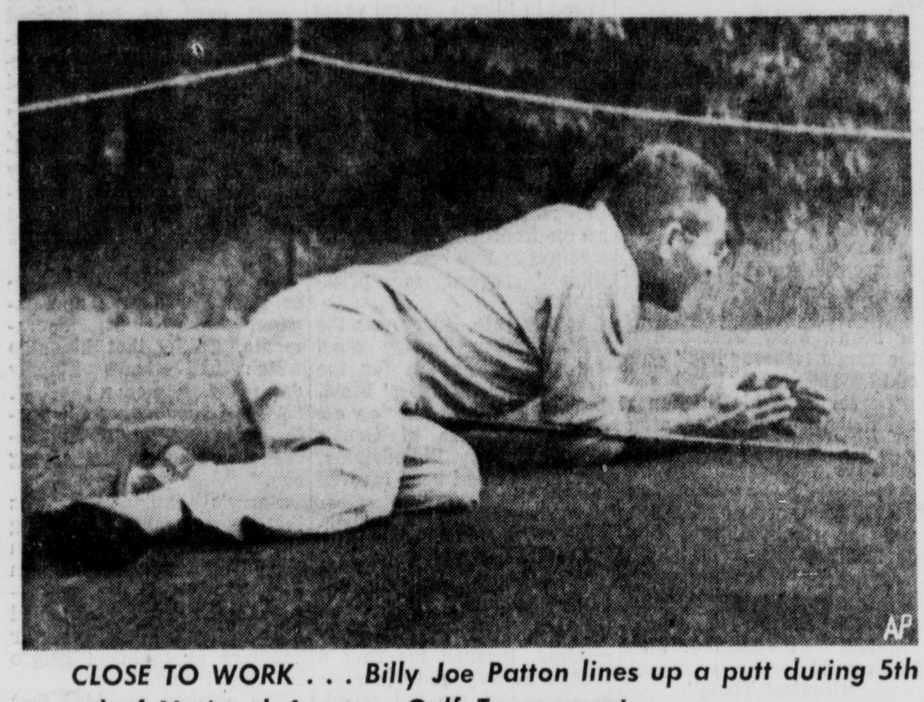
Weatherly went around the halfway mark 23 and one-half minutes ahead of Gretel and, by that time, it had turned into a runaway.

Sturrock made up time on the 3rd leg, but it was too late and Mosbacher was coasting. The home stretch was simply a matter of how far behind Gretel would be.



WEATHERLY REPAIRED . . . Crewmen of Weatherly put a new spinnaker boom aboard the American defender before start of 3rd race.

'OLD MAN' IN SEMIS



CLOSE TO WORK . . . Billy Joe Patton lines up a putt during 5th round of National Amateur Golf Tournament.

Three 'Kids' Win To Join Patton

. . . IN U. S. AMATEUR

Pinehurst, N.C. (AP) — Graying Billy Joe Patton, triggered by 3 key putts and an unbelievable recovery shot, whipped two more opponents Thursday and swept into the semi-finals of the 62nd U.S. Amateur Golf Championship along with younguns Labron Harris, Jr., Charles Coody and Downing Gray.

Tar Heel hero Patton, 40 years old but never anything but a spectator beyond the 4th round of any of the previous dozen national amateurs he played in, will meet the 20-year-old Harris, while Coody will play Gray in today's 36-hole semi-finals at the 7,051 yard, par 36-36—72 No. 2 course of the Pinehurst Country Club.

And after what happened on a cool, blustery day at this lush green oasis in the North Carolina sandhills there are few who expect anyone but Billy Joe to be grasping the championship trophy when the tournament ends, with former President Eisenhower looking on, Saturday afternoon.

Saving Best

The lumberman from Morganton, N.C., some 100 miles to the west, apparently was saving the best for the showdown rounds because for the first time this week he gave par at the course he knows so well a real battering.

After winning his morning match from 19-year-old Johnny McKey of Orlando, Fla., and Duke University with a so so exhibition, Patton "got myself charged up" by sinking 3 difficult putts of between 4 and 6 feet on the early holes against quarterfinal opponent Jimmy Gabrielsen. A recovery shot from deep in the trees on the 4th hole did the rest and Patton blazed 12 holes in 1 under par for a 7 and 6 rout of the 20-year-old University of Georgia golf captain.

The 6-3, 185-pound Harris, son of the Oklahoma State U. golf coach and a straight A student in mathematics, overcame some sloppy driving with 8 one putt greens in upsetting Houston collegian Homero Blancas, 2 and 1.

Won Last 3

Coody, a 25-year-old Air Force lieutenant from Texas and a poppa of only 13 days, won the last 3 holes with two pars and a birdie and downed Bill Newcomb of the University of Michigan, 2 up. The 24-year-old Gray, a 1961 graduate of Florida State U. and weekend player now in Pensacola, Fla., edged Paul Desjardins, 20, of Miami Shores, Fla., 1 up.

After the morning upset of Charlie Smith and Wednesday's upset of Harvie Ward, an ex-Tar Heel whose family still lives in North Carolina, the golf fans in the pine and sand area concentrated their full partisanship on Patton. And he didn't let them down.

POINT BLANK

By Don Bryant

Sports Editor, The Star

Guessing Game

Once again the time has come to unpack the Point Blank crystal ball, dust it and hope the signals continue loud and clear.

But before we commence the old guessing game, I've got to explain the term "red-shirt."

First of all, I don't want the visiting delegation from Russia to get the impression Nebraska is preparing for a May Day celebration.

Secondly, after quoting Bob Devaney on "red-shirting," I was swamped by inquiries: "What does red shirting mean?"

Well, it has nothing to do with a political philosophy and doesn't refer to the color of a jersey (uniform, not cow.)

Red-shirting, in effect, is withholding an athlete from competition in a given year so that he may have eligibility at a later date.

Coaches may "red-shirt" a boy because of injury, registration technicality (as in Dennis Claridge's case) or just because they feel the player isn't mature enough as a sophomore, for example, and would be more valuable if he waited a year before starting to use his eligibility.

Another example: if Bill Thornton's injury would fail to respond until mid-season or later, it might be decided to keep him out of games for the entire year, rather than have him lose a full year of eligibility by playing only one or two games.

In most cases, however, players are withheld from competition because they aren't ready to help a team but have the potential to make a better contribution a year or so hence. So they continue to work with the team, and gain experience, but don't play in games.

In short, "red-shirting" is a device to save eligibility until it can be best put to use. It should be pointed out, also, that a boy has only 10 semesters during which he is enrolled in school to complete his eligibility. So he can't be "red-shirted" indefinitely.

Miss Quarterback Will Be Named At NU Rally

The opening football rally of the season for NU tonight will feature the naming of Miss Quarterback 1962.

Each sorority has provided a candidate from its pledge class and the selection will be made at the rally at 7 p.m. on the north side of the Nebraska Union.

Nielsen Wins When Opponent Bites Him

Omaha (AP) — Bill Nielsen, 193, Omaha, won on a 10th round disqualification of Ernie Cab, 210, Bronx, N.Y., Thursday night in a slow boxing match. Cab was disqualified by referee Gene Buzzello when the Bronx boxer bit Nielsen on the arm after spitting out his mouthpiece.

FORMER HUSKER TACKLE JOINS HOUSTON CLUB

Houston (AP) — The Houston Oilers returned to full strength Thursday with the addition of defensive end Roland McDole and tackle Bill Herchman.

Herchman is a 251-pound veteran from Texas Tech in his 7th year as a pro. He played last for the Dallas Cowboys in the National Football League.

McDole, a 255-pound former Nebraska player, is in his second year as a professional and formerly played with the St. Louis Cardinals, also in the National League.

Oiler coach Frank (Pop) Ivy put defensive tackle Bob Kelly and end Don Lanphear on waivers Tuesday.

The newest additions to the American Football League champions' squad are expected to tighten up a pass defense that Ivy has called his biggest disappointment to date.

30,000 Expected For Huskers' Grid Opener

By DON BRYANT
Star Sports Editor

A crowd of possibly 30,000 is expected to visit Memorial Stadium Saturday afternoon to sit in on the debut of Cornhusker Coach Bob Devaney and the 1962 Cornhuskers against the South Dakota Coyotes.

The estimate is made on the basis of good weather and the last-minute interest generated by the season opener.

Ticket boss Jim Pittenger, also debuting this fall as the successor to the late A. J. Lewandowski, has reported an improved season ticket sale and a late step-up in requests for South Dakota tickets.

Stadium and bleacher tickets are still available, Pittenger said.

Devaney Cautious

Despite the fact that Nebraska is an overwhelming favorite to dump the Coyotes in the inaugural, Devaney and the Huskers weren't loafing Thursday.

They held a spirited practice, with PAT drills, punt returns, punting and additional review on the offense and defense plans for South Dakota.

"I'm sure we should be favored," Devaney said. "But South Dakota has played a game already — and none of our players have played for us (new coaches) yet.

"I'll just be happy to get ahead and stay ahead," he added.

Carlson Slowed

Co-captain Dwain Carlson, No. 1 guard and linebacker, turned up lame Thursday, but should be able to play Saturday.

"Dwain is limping a little because of a toe injury, but he insists he'll be OK for the game," Devaney said. "We certainly hope he is — in fact, we'd like everyone to be ready because of the importance of game experience."

Rube Visits

Rube Hoy, former South Dakota basketball coach for 35 years and athletic director emeritus, was a Lincoln visitor Thursday.

The colorful veteran mentor addressed the Lions Club at the Hotel Cornhusker.

Hoy termed the 1924 Nebraska - Notre Dame game "the greatest football game I ever saw — with Ed Weir in the Irish backfield all day."

Also on hand from Vermillion for the luncheon was Bill Slattery, Coyote news director.

Friday Slate

The Cornhuskers will work out briefly — in full uniform —at Memorial Stadium this afternoon.

Devaney said the reason for full game gear today, rather than the normal no-pad routine, is to check equipment fittings. The Huskers have new uniforms for the opener.

Following the workout the Scarlets will eat dinner, then adjourn to the Nebraska Center where they'll spend the night.

South Dakota won't work out here, Slattery reported. Coach Bob Burns will drill the Coyotes at Vermillion, then travel to Lincoln, arriving about 6 p.m.

The Coyotes will headquarter at the Colonial Inn.

Weekend Slate Has Top Games

By CONDE SARGENT

North Platte should be the envy of Class A football.

The high-ranked Platters have the week off while the rest of the top clubs will be flying at each other.

This weekend's slate should separate the men from the boys.

Hot battles are scheduled throughout Class A with 6 top ten teams paired off.

Biggest contest is top ranked Omaha North v. Lincoln High, rated No. 2 in the initial prep poll.

Omaha Benson Field will host the game which could be a deciding factor concerning a state title even though the season is just 3 weeks old. Game time will be 7:30.

Three ranked teams and a strong contender will keep Lincoln's Seacrest Field busy and well attended.

No. 5 Hastings and Southeast, believed to be the best of the unrated, collide in a Mid-East Conference game Friday night.

Then Grand Island (No. 7) challenges Northeast's (No. 6) ranking on Saturday.

Replays of last year's games in the two Lincoln games would provide thrilling action.

Southeast and Hastings tied 6-6 while Northeast, en route to the state championship, tripped Grand Island 14-0.

Game time for both contests is 7:30 p.m.

Pius X rounds out the local slate by traveling to Falls City, one of the better Class B clubs.

Last week's picking proved successful with 26 right, 8 wrong and a tie. For the year the count is 49-20-1 and a .750 percentage.

This week's top games:

Lincoln High v. Omaha North at Benson—State's top gafe. North's passing attack may make big difference.

Hastings v. Southeast at Seacrest—The Knights of SE may pull a few surprises. Hastings' stout lads still look the best, however.

Grand Island at Northeast—The Rockets' defense will have to react quickly to GI's speed and passing. Grand Island in a mild upset.

Pius X at Falls City—Thunderbolts of Pius X remain undefeated.

Omaha South v. Omaha Benson Municipal Stadium — South's power liked.

Other games with predicted winners appearing in dark print:

11-Man

8 Man

York St. Joseph at Bradshaw, Cedar Bluffs at Valparaiso, Dawson-Verdon at Johnson, Exeter at Friend, Sumner at Hildreth, Wilcox at Loomis, Dorchester at Beatrice St. Joseph (Sat), Hayes Center at Madrid, DeWitt at Sterling, Winnebago at Walthill.

Lehigh Hanover Wins 17th Annual Little Brown Jug

Delaware, Ohio (AP) — Lehigh Hanover, bay colt owned by the Lehigh stable of New Egypt, N.J., broke the two-minute barrier twice Thursday to capture the 17th annual $75,000 Little Brown Jug from the classiest group of 3-year-old pacers in the event's history.

Handled magnificiently by 35-year-old Stanley Dancer, the speedy son of Adois—Lucine Hanover came from far back with two great stretch drives to nose out highly favored Coffee Break in the split-division classic.

Tranquility Marks Patterson's Camp

... DOOR CLOSED TO PUBLIC

Chicago (AP)— The bleat of a tethered nanny goat. The occasional plopping sound of falling acorns on the roof. The rustling of oak leaves as they catch the breeze.

This is the tranquil setting at Marycrest Farm near Elgin, Ill., the hilltop training camp of heavyweight champion Floyd Patterson.

As time approaches for his defense against Sonny Liston, the rehabilitated colossus, in Comiskey Park Tuesday night, Patterson has closed the door to the public and in an atmosphere of calm, quiet confidence waits for the big night with his thoughts.

Finely Tuned

All heavy work is behind him. He has boxed 162 rounds in the last 3 months. He is a finely-tuned piece of fighting machinery. The wait — probably the toughest thing of all—is on.

The subdued atmosphere of Marycrest Farm takes on significance as a training site for the modest, soft-speaking, champion, whose sense of inferiority as a tyke sent him seeking out subway vaults in Brooklyn where he could hide from truant officers and brood in seclusion.

The farm is the county house of a group of women known as the Martin de Porres workers — named for a Negro elevated to sainthood. It was turned over for use by Patterson and his entourage about a month ago.

Used As Shelter

Usually it is used for such purposes as shelter for a burnt-out family or for refugees, for a group of city children on a weekend of character enrichment, or for, perhaps, a newly-married couple in the lower income group who can honeymoon in the little cottage called "Pax," where Patterson now spends much of his time.

Adding to the surrounding is a nanny goat named "Hope." Two others died. They were called Faith and Charity. That "Hope" should remain is a well-taken portent around camp.

And near one hilltop cottage is a big bell from an ancient locomotive. Painted on it is the name "St. Gabriel."

In contrast to the champion's training ground is the humming camp of Liston at unused Aurora Downs harness race track. There, the challenger continues a rigorous training routine with the public paying $1 a head to watch. Rock 'n' roll music rends the air. Talks with Liston are held in the clubhouse next to boarded-up pari-mutuel windows.

Aide Announces

And when Liston appears for his exercises, an aide announces: "Ladies and gentlemen, may I present the challenger for the world heavyweight championship, Sonny Liston."

Through a door he appears, his huge frame hidden by a white terrycloth robe, his expressionless face peering from a hood that covers his head.

Someone in the crowd said: "He looks just like the abominable snowman!"

BRITISH CARTOON PREDICTS U.S. VICTORY IN MOON RACE

London (AP) — "If Liston hits him it looks odds-on a Yank will be the first on the moon."

So ran the caption to a cartoon in a British newspaper Thursday. It reflected the average Briton's feeling about the outcome of the world heavyweight fight between champion Floyd Patterson and Sonny Liston in Chicago next Tuesday. Most British boxing writers on the scene in Chicago feel the same way.

There's as much interest in the fight there as there is in the United States. Always the question is: "How soon will Liston knock him out."

British bookies have made Liston a 2-1 favorite. That means you have to put up two pounds ($5.60) to win one ($2.80) if you bet on the challenger. But if you want to bet on Patterson you will only get 3-2. That means you must put up two pounds to win 3. In man-to-man betting that makes Liston about an 8-5 favorite, same odds as in the U.S.

One bookmaker said "There's been quite a lot of betting on the fight. And most of it has been on Patterson. But I'm still making Liston the favorite."

After watching Liston train and after talking to him Peter Wilson of the London Daily Mirror commented: "Whoever nicknamed him Sonny must have had an acid sense of humor."

Indians Top A's, 5-2 On 5-Hitter By Ramos

Kansas City (AP) — Pedro Ramos pitched a 5-hit baseball game Thursday for Cleveland as the Indians beat the Kansas City Athletics 5-2.

John Romano, the Indians' catcher, hit his 3rd home run in two days with the bases empty in the 4th inning. He drove in three runs with his homer and two sacrifice flies, making a total of 8 runs batted in in his last two games.

The Kansas City starting pitcher was Bill Fischer, who distinguished himself only by running his Major League record of consecutive innings without a base on balls to 73. He had beaten Christy Mathewson's 49-year-old mark of 68 last Saturday night against Baltimore.

While the Indians couldn't wheedle a walk off Fischer, they pasted him for 9 hits and all their 5 runs as they sent him down to his 6th straight defeat.

SONNY SPARS SECRETLY AS DOORS CLOSED

Chicago (AP) — With the press and public barred, challenger Sonny Liston Thursday held his first "secret" sparring season for his title match with champion Floyd Patterson Tuesday night.

The press visiting Liston's Aurora Downs camp was chased and policemen barred all outsiders while Liston worked two rounds apiece with Foneda Cox of St. Louis and Dan Bucceroni of Philadelphia.

Meanwhile, chairman Joe Triner of the Illinois State Athletic Commission announced his group would visit Liston's camp today for a final showdown on what type of 8 ounce gloves would be used in the title bout in Comiskey Park.

Last Monday, at a regular commission session, a rhubarb developed when the handlers of both fighters disagreed as to the make of gloves to be used.

Triner said a standard-make (Everlast) set of gloves would be tried on Liston, who claimed his huge hands required a set made by a Chicago specialist, Sammy Frager.

Tigers Dim Twins' Pennant Hopes, 5-1

. . . TRAIL BY 4½ GAMES

Minneapolis-St. Paul. (AP)— Minnesota handed Detroit 3 unearned runs in the first inning, and that was all right-handers Phil Regan and Terry Fox needed to subdue the Twins 5-1 on 8 hits Thursday.

The outcome pushed the idle New York Yankees a notch closer to clinching another American League pennant.

Magic number for the Bombers to wrap it up is now 4, with the Twins trailing by 4½ games. The Yankees have 8 games left, the Twins 7.

Al Kaline helped Regan further shorten the rope on Minnesota's dim pennant chances. He slashed 3 hits, including his 28th home run—a new one-season personal high for the classy Tiger outfielder.

Norm Cash also had a big hit, singling home two runs in the first inning burst from which the Twins never recovered.

Regan (11-9) thwarted several early Minnesota threats with clutch pitching. He struck out one and walked 4. Fox relieved Regan in the 9th after two singles and protected the victory retiring 3 men in order.

Zoilo Versalles spoiled Regan's shouout bid with a leadoff homer to left in the bottom of the 5th. It was his 17th of the season.

Upcoming Patterson-Liston Fight Stirs Fond Memories

... TUNNEY, DEMPSEY MATCH

Chicago (UPI)—The mounting tension, the rich rewards at stake and the prestige of the World Championship in next Tuesday's Floyd Patterson-Sonny Liston fight recalls memories of the controversial Gene Tunney-Jack Dempsey "Long Count" match here 35 years ago.

That fight at Soldiers' Field in Chicago on Saturday night, Sept. 22, 1927, earned Tunney the richest purse in ring history; made a national "martyr" of Dempsey, and a tragic figure of the referee, Dave (Long Count) Barry.

There was no television in 1927 when champion Tunney, the former marine, and Dempsey, the tigerish "Manassa Mauler," climbed into the ring before 104,943 fans at Soldiers' Field on that somewhat chilly September night.

Richest Gate

The tawny-haired, Shakespeare-reading Tunney, and ex-hobo Dempsey, with the tousled black hair and blacker scowl, drew what still is the ring's richest "live" gate of $2,658,660.

Tunney kept his title on a unanimous decision — after weathering a long-count of at least 14 seconds in the 7th round.

Tunney received $990,000, still the ring's all-time biggest purse. Dempsey's share was $447,500; but Jack's greatest reward was the fact that he became a nation "martyr" as victim of the long-count.

"Greatest Thing"

Dempsey says now: "That long count was the greatest thing that ever happened to me. It made me millions of friends and sympathizers."

The one great loser in that historic extravaganza was Barry, who received a $1,000 fee for refereeing. Dave, a former professional lightweight boxer from Chicago, spent his remaining days defending his actions in the 7th round that night.

Barry finally died at 52 on Aug. 26, 1936, from a liver infection, while at liberty under a $10,000 bond. He was at liberty pending a retrial on charges of conspiracy to embezzle $54,473 from the Amalgamated Trust and Savings Bank of Chicago.

He had been convicted a year before by a jury and sentenced to a year in jail. But the Illinois appellate court reversed the decision and remanded his case for a new trial.

Barry's conviction and death recalled his long-time defenses of his actions in the ring at Soldiers' Field — defenses that started formally in his two-article series in the Chicago Daily Tribune in December, 1928 — nearly 15 months after the fight. The feature of his defense was his insistence that he had absolutely no knowledge that he was to be picked by the Illinois State Athletic Commission to referee the bout.

New Commission

It was a comparatively new commission, appointed after boxing — which had been outlawed in Illinois several years —was legalized again in the state in 1926.

Apparently the favorable publicity occasioned by the socking saga of Dempsey and the all-time record crowd of 120,737 that incredulously watched Tunney dethrone Dempsey at Philadelphia's rain-drenched Municipal stadium in 1926 had improved Illinois' regard for prize-fighting.

At any rate, Barry was the referee when Tunney and Dempsey came out for the first round at Soldiers' Field. The betting was at "even money" because of Gene's victory at Philadelphia, where Jack had been favored at 11-5.

It was Barry's 44th birthday.

Dempsey, weighing 192½ pounds to Tunney's 189½, put up a much better fight than he had at Philadelphia. Nevertheless, through the first 6 rounds Tunney had the edge in all except the 3rd round. In the 5th Jack's left eye was cut by the fast-stepping, sharp-jabbing Tunney.

In the wild 7th round, Dempsey threw a desperate left hook to the chin and staggered the champion. Then Jack murderously barraged Gene's head with 7 more explosive shots. Tunney sank to the canvas, with his left hand grasping the lower ring roped.

It seemed that Dempsey was about to become the first man in ring history to recapture the heavyweight crown. And the roar of the crowd was almost a solid sound.

At Least 14 Seconds

But Barry didn't begin to count until he had forced Dempsey away from his prostrate victim and into a neutral corner. Barry counted "one" just after Paul Beeler, the knockdown timekeeper, had counted "four". Accordingly when Tunney finally rose just as Barry was counting "10", Beeler had counted "14" — according to Barry's story.

However, in 1957, timekeeper Beeler said in a newspaper story at Sacramento, Calif., that his stop watch had shown Tunney down for a count of 17. "When I was saying 6," Beeler claimed, "Barry was leaning over Tunney and saying one."

Barry's explanation was that he was merely carrying out verbal changes made in the commission's rules on the afternoon of the fight — changes that were explained to the fighters and their handlers in mid-ring before the first round.

The changes provided that a fighter who scored a knockdown must retire to the farthest neutral corner before the referee began to count, "shall cease counting until the fighter retires to the corner."

Tunney was superior in the 9th and 10th. He won the unanimous decision of Barry and the two judges. But the long-count started a storm of controversy from which little dust-devils still linger on.

Theater Ticket Sales Surpass 200,000 Seats

New York (AP) — Closed circuit television officials said Thursday the theater ticket sales for the Floyd Patterson-Sonny Liston heavyweight title fight passed the 200,000-seat mark last Monday.

"The report covered 75% of the locations throughout the country," said Martin Smith, of Graff, Reiner and Smith, the firm handling the theater-TV. "The gross already is over the million dollar mark."

Smith said the total seating capacity in theaters and arenas is over a million for the Sept. 25 fight in Chicago.

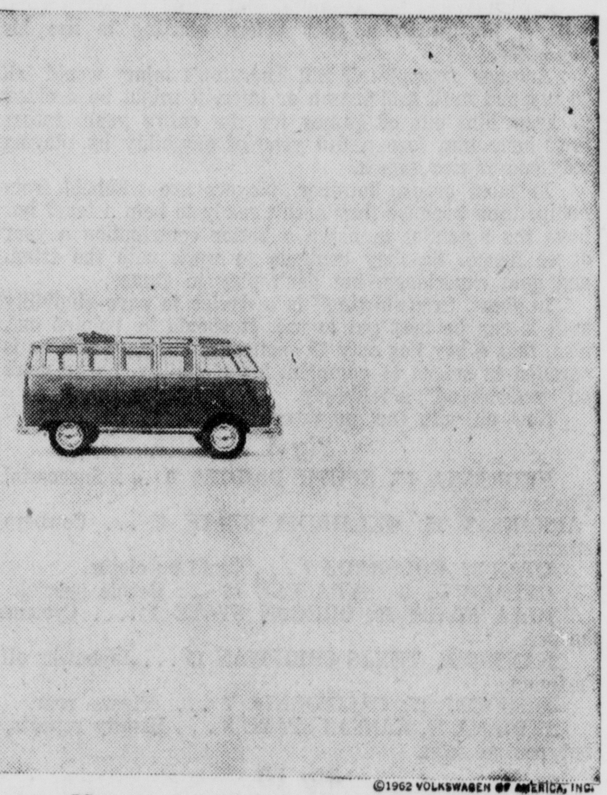
Bigger inside.



©1962 VOLKSWAGEN OF AMERICA, INC.

Smaller outside.

Inside, the Volkswagen Station Wagon looks bigger than conventional wagons.
It is.
Outside, it looks smaller.
It is.
Would you mind repeating that?
One lady explained it very simply.
"It has no front in the front," she said. "And no back in the back."
Which is one way of saying that you can't find any wasted space.
Nothing hangs overboard anywhere.
No hood. No rear deck.
So even a tiny parking spot can hold a wagon big enough for the kids to stand up and walk around in.
Or a playpen to be opened in.
Without playpens, 8 adults fit nicely.
(The number of kids that fit has never really been settled.)
If you're big on sunshine and fresh air, the VW's sun-roof will interest you.
It slides 'way, 'way back and stirs up a cool breeze.
(Other wagons don't seem to have sun-roofs. Funny thing.)
Skiers will appreciate the rear engine's terrific traction.
Millionaires may not care, but the VW's gas economy is really something. (About 25 m.p.g., give or take a mile or two.)
Above all, you'll find that the VW Station Wagon is just plain fun to drive.
It handles like a sports bus.

Cards Drop SF 4 Games Back

. . . WITH TWO IN 9TH

St. Louis (AP)—Ken Boyer singled home the winning run in the 9th inning as the St. Louis Cardinals dropped the San Francisco Giants 4 games behind the idle first-place Los Angeles Dodgers by defeating the Giants, 5-4, Thursday night.

The Giants carried a 4-3 lead into the 9th inning which Curt Flood opened with a single off Dick LeMay, the losing pitcher. Stan Musial's single sent Flood to 3rd and Flood scored the tying run on LeMay's balk.

Don Larsen, the 5th Giant pitcher, walked Bill White intentionally and Boyer followed with his game-winning hit.

The San Francisco setback made the Dodgers' magic number 6. That is, any combination of Dodger victories and Giant losses totaling 6 will clinch the pennant for Los Angeles. Each club has 9 games left.

Pittsburgh (AP) —Rookie Bob Bailey's double to center in the 9th inning scored the tying and winning runs for the Pittsburgh Pirates Thursday night as they beat Cincinnati 4-3 and spoiled Bob Purkey's bid for his 23rd victory.

New York (UPI) — Alabama, Texas and Louisiana State, pre-season favorites to finish high in the nation's top 10 for '62, are favored to get off the mark in a hurry.

Their opposition on the first major weekend of college football is rugged enough to provide a test but not quite enough to put their national title hopes in jeopardy.

Thus, it's Alabama over George, Texas over Oregon and L.S.U. over Texas A and M. in the weekly forecast. Duke, Penn State and Purdue are picked to win other big ones.

Mets Lose 115th Game Of Season

New York (AP)— The Houston Colts edged New York 5-4 on Hal Smith's 12th inning single for a sweep of their doubleheader Thursday and pushed the hapless Mets into a tie for the National League record for season's losses. Houston won the opener 7-2.

The twin defeats gave the Mets 115 setbacks in 152 decisions, matching the league mark set by the 1935 Boston Braves. The major league record is 117 by the 1916 Philadelphia Athletics. Both records were established in 154-game seasons.

Bob Aspromonte of the Colts bobbled a grounder in the 8th inning, snapping his league fielding record for 3rd baseman at 57 consecutive errorless games.

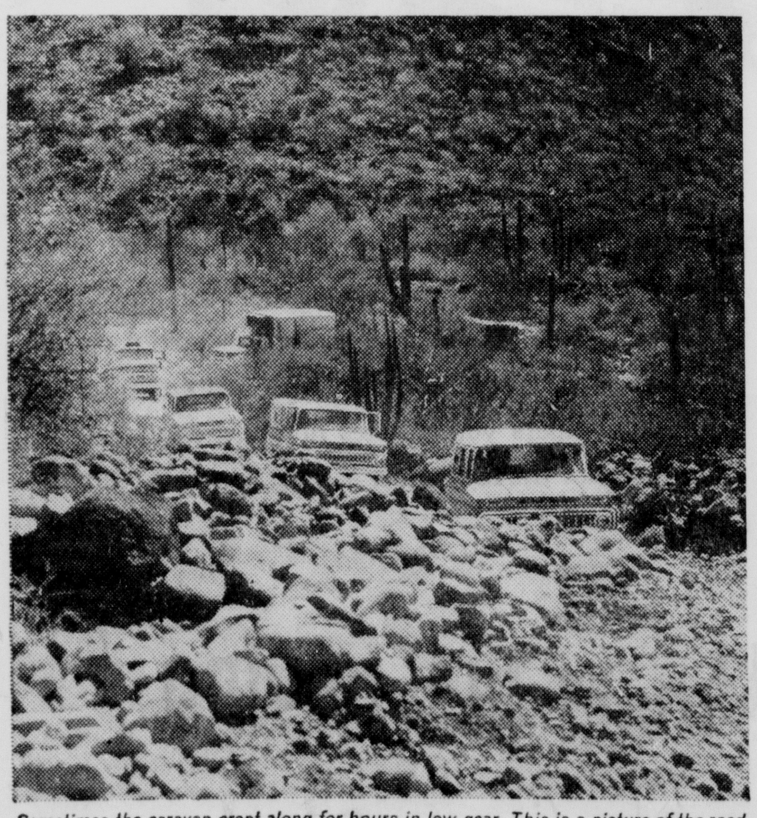
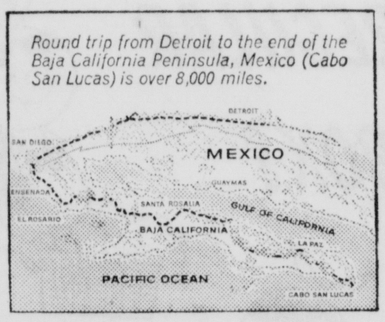
'63 Chevrolet Trucks make slam-bang Baja Run!

PICK THE TOUGHEST RUN UNDER THE SUN TO SHOW QUALITY OF NEW ENGINES, FRAMES & SUSPENSIONS!



Sometimes the caravan crept along for hours in low gear. This is a picture of the road north of Santa Rosalia, half-way down the Baja Run. Fortunately, there's little traffic.



Millions of years ago nature fashioned a proving ground for trucks that man can never duplicate. Today it is known as the Baja (bah' hah) California Peninsula, Mexico.

If you think you build a tough truck, this is the place to find out. This road bears no resemblance to the modern highways on the Mexican mainland.

These pictures give you only a bare idea of the place. The road is fine for 140 miles below the U.S. border. Then the beating begins. Rocks and hard-baked ruts bang, punch, jab and jerk the trucks from stem to stern. Loose sand makes them struggle and strain. Dust chokes them. Heat roasts them. Rivers drench them.

The Baja Run took this Chevrolet truck caravan 17 days to go the 1,066 miles. Hours were spent in low gear, the most distance ground out in any one day was 200 miles in 19 hours; the least was 32 miles in 9 hours.

All the trucks performed magnificently. Not one was forced to drop out because of mechanical difficulty.

Trucks that can take this kind of beating can take on your toughest truck jobs. See the tough quality-built '63 Chevrolet trucks with all their new improvements.

Full-Time Budget Director Urged

Kearney (AP) — Fred A. Seaton, the Republican candidate for governor, spelled out Thursday a program he said would reform Nebraska tax-handling and reduce waste.

Speaking before the convention of the League of Nebraska Municipalities the Hastings publisher proposed a 6-point plan:

—Establish in the office of governor a new full-time job of budget director.

—Allow the state tax commissioner to spend full time administering tax laws.

—Set out to practice "sensible and advanced planning" for highways; education; mental, penal, remedial and correctional institutions, and in all other areas of state government responsibility.

—Remove the state tax commissioner as a member of the state board of equalization and assessment where, Seaton said, the commissioner now sits as prosecutor, judge and juror when counties are called in to explain their property tax assessments.

—Give the state purchasing department the full status of a code department.

—Modernize the administrative functions and procedures of the state government to cut down on overlapping duties and responsibilities and any superfluous personnel, thus reducing administrative costs to a bare minimum.

Seaton repeated that he opposes both state sales and income taxes. He said other states have added a general sales tax or state income tax to their old tax systems without first making an effective effort to improve then-existing systems and as a result have gotten into serious trouble. Nebraska should profit by their experience, he added.

He described the present system as complex and confusing, Whether the state adopted a so-called broadened tax base or not, he said, the property tax as such will be with us forever.

In order to lighten the duties of the tax commissioner so he can devote full time to tax law administration, Seaton said as governor he would recommend the Legislature relieve the commissioner of duties as budget director. Then he would ask the Unicameral to permit the governor to employ "a capable and professionally qualified budget and planning expert, and that he be designated as the state director of budget."

Nebraska commercial hatcheries produced 75,000 chicks in August, 26% fewer than in the same month last year, the State-Federal-Division of Agricultural Statistics reported Thursday.

The total was down 58% from the 1956-60 August average of 177,000 chicks.

For the current year through August, the total of 14,931,000 chicks hatched falls 18% below last year's total for the same period.

Hoyt Heads State Real Estate Group

Omaha (AP) — John E. Hoyt of Lincoln was elected 1963 president of the Nebraska Real Estate Association Thursday. He succeeds Grant L. Miller of Omaha.

Hoyt

Chosen as vice presidents were William Kimball of Lincoln, Lad V. Tesar Sr. of Omaha, Leo Ringer of Norfolk, and Guy E. Thomason of Scottsbluff. David Mitten of Fremont was elected treasurer.

Named directors for 3-year terms were: Stan Portsche of Lincoln, Kirk P. Miller of Omaha, E. H. Weertz of Columbus, and G. James Wright of Mitchell. Harry J. Bull of Lincoln was renamed executive vice president.

President Grant L. Miller said directors had decided to defer action on a question of whether realtors should be bonded. A poll of 400 members showed great diversity of opinion on bonding and how it should be handled, he said.

Miller also announced that the directors had decided to award two $200 scholarships to real estate seniors at the University of Omaha. He said the board was pleased that the University of Nebraska had added night courses in real estate to its curriculum.

A resolution adopted by the group called for adequate roads to Nebraska recreation areas. The group also voted to support conservation and industrial and commercial use of natural resources.

SOS clinics will open at 11 a.m. at the same 22 Lincoln school buildings to give the Type II polio virus vaccine. They will close at 7 p.m.

Dr. Hobart A. Wallace, SOS chairman for the Lancaster County Medical Society, again urged all residents to take advantage of the opportunity to protect themselves from polio and again said it was safe.

Type I was given 107,647 persons June 17, and 105,551 persons sipped Type III vaccine July 29.

The Lancaster County Medical Society, sponsor of the clinics, announced, however, that no makeup clinic would be held this time.

In addition to the clinics in Lincoln, a clinic is planned at the Lincoln Air Force Base from 9 a.m. to 4 p.m.

EVERYBODY'S MONEY:

Harmony Of Interests Basis For Prosperity

By MERRYLE S. RUKEYSER

Some years ago, after this writer delivered a speech at Utica, N.Y. before a regional association of credit executives, the toastmaster asked for questions from the floor.

Rukeyser

In conformity with the specialized character of the audience, the questions were uniformly lucid, penetrating, and stimulating. But a non-member had bought a ticket, and he was in a bellicose mood. Irritated, he prefaced his question with a statement that he had paid $5 to come in, and felt he had a right to participate.

Desiring to keep the meeting in good humor, I pointed out to the heckler that, even if he found the speech distasteful, his money wasn't entirely wasted, since he also received a satisfying meal.

The reader pays the going rate when he buys a copy of his local newspaper, and expects, in accordance with accepted practice, that a paying customer has the right to audit every contributor and take to task those with whose views he disagrees. Facing the classroom criticism from a student heckler, Walter B. Pitkin, author of "Life Begins at Forty", cut off the critic, a sophomore saying: "This is a pretty complicated topic. After you get your Ph.D. degree come back and have a conference with me."

In a free society such as ours, every one properly reserves the right to disagree in whatever terms of harshness he sees fit. This writer, as a communicator, likes to get reader reactions. A large proportion of the letters are friendly and courteous.

A dissenter in Lincoln, Nebraska writes:

"What an unboundable labor hater and baiter you are. This is the 20th century and not the 19th."

Desiring to give objective consideration to the criticism, I re-examined the column which provoked the comment. However, the article did not deal with union policies or labor problems. It replied to a series of specific reader inquiries as to other matters, such as whether certain transactions by a physician are tax deductible, a request by a Nebraska bank president and State Senator for permission to reprint a column about corporate pensions, and a communication from a general agent of a life insurance company as to the relative merits of an annuity contract vs. investment in mutual funds.

But apparently the critic felt that, in giving serious consideration to reader problems in accumulating property and in paying taxes, I was running counter to some party line, and stigmatizing myself as bourgeois.

If that is the indictment, then I plead guilty to standing for the human right of men and women to save and accumulate intangible and other property, and for the right of taxpayers to understand what the revenue statutes permit.

But maybe the reader's wrath was based on memory of earlier columns in which theories and policies of labor leaders were analyzed. An economist, who undertakes to dissect the national economy, study the functions of the various parts, and their relationship to one another and to the whole, should strive for objectivity. He cannot accept at face value all the representations of public relations counsel for corporations or all the special pleading of spokesmen for pressure groups.

Obviously the end-all and be-all of a national economy is to provide better living for workers (brain and brawn) and their families.

The complicated problems of job security, in face of the rise of competitive industry in the Common Market area, Japan, and elsewhere, can't be solved without effort by automatic reference to outdated cliches and slogans.

It is a reactionary, "ox cart" throwback to try to adjust to the problems of dynamic growth in the 1960's by blind adherence to the formulae prevalent in the depressed 1930's.

As a result of the complexity of current problems, there have been sharp differences of views among leading officials within the labor union movement itself. The breach, for example, between the ideology of George Meany, president of the AFL-CIO, and Walter P. Reuther, vice president, has seemingly been widening. Furthermore, the AFL-CIO expelled the Teamsters' Union headed by Jimmy Hoffa. Likewise, there is cleavage within union circles as to the length of the work week.

President Kennedy has expressed the view that the national interest requires continuance of a 40 hour week, but the Executive Council of the AFL-CIO asks for a 35 hour week with the same pay as for 40 hours. The affiliated local electrical union in New York went further; it recently agitated for and put into effect a 25 hour week.

In the 1962 steel wage negotiations, David McDonald, head of the Steelworkers Union, made much more moderate demands than had been put forth in the previous series of post World War II wage contract negotiations. This does not signify that McDonald has lost ardor, but indicates that he and his economic advisers modified their position to adjust to the growing threat of foreign steel competition, on the one hand, and of domestic competition to steel from paper, aluminum, plastics, and glass, on the other.

The hope of the nation lies in emerging from the Marxian tradition of internal warfare, and in substituting informed collective consultation for free-wheeling, slugging and emotional collective bargaining. Such a change should not rest on new desire to be nice to management and investors, but on a realistic understanding by unions of how best to achieve job security. The future promise of American life will be heightened if we are guided by Henry C. Carey's view that the harmony of the interests should be stressed.

The true friend of the worker is the creative person, who through research and development and technical skills, gets unit costs down to a comparative basis, while safeguarding and improving the American high standard of living.

Mr. Rukeyser will be pleased to receive inquiries from readers concerning their financial problems. Letters with self-addressed, stamped envelopes should be sent in care of The Lincoln Star. Questions of general interest will be answered in the column.

Grains Mostly Steady, Strong

Chicago (AP) — Soybean futures reacted to reports of probable frost damage Thursday and prices were bid substantially higher in active dealings on the Board of Trade. The grains were mostly steady to strong.

All soybean deliveries moved up well over a cent a bushel with the nearby months posting gains of about two cents. First advices indicated frost damage was limited to localities in Iowa and Minnesota but that it may have been rather severe.

Minnesota is considered one of the major soybean producers and the damage was believed to have been the most widespread there.

Any crop damage now is important in the trade in view of the possibility that it could reduce supplies for the year to an amount about equal to consumer requirements. In addition, a report from central Illinois, where the harvest is approaching the peak, said yields there were considerably under expectations.

Both corn and wheat attracted a revival of short covering for a while after House passage of the farm bill.

Wheat closed ¼-⅜ cent a bushel higher, December $2.08⅜-½; corn ¾-1⅛ higher; oats ⅛ higher to ⅛ lower, December 66⅞-67 cents; rye ⅛-½ lower, December $1.19¾; soybeans 1¼-2⅛ higher, November $2.37⅜-¼.

Red 'Hot Trolleys' Trouble

Washington (AP) — The woes of superheated straphangers on second hand trolley cars in Communist Yugoslavia stirred concern — and some confusion — in Washington transit circles Thursday.

It seems that some 50 streetcars bought in Washington by the city of Sarajevo, Yugoslavia, become mobile ovens in the summertime — because nobody in Sarajevo knows how to turn the heat off.

A dispatch from Belgrade said the cars, delivery of which began about two years ago, arrived with the heating systems turned on. The hot trolleys pleased the customers in the wintertime, but really sweated them this past summer when the Sarajevo mercury hit 100 at times.

Tol dof this dispatch, officials of D. C. Transit System, Inc., which sold the cars, were surprised.

"Why didn't the Yugoslavs write us about their trouble? We could have saved them a lot of sweat," the officials said.

But then some conflicting aid came from D.C. Transit as to how you go about turning off heat in a trolley.

Morris Fox, vice president, said all you do is flick a switch right in front of the motorman's seat. He hazarded the guess that in remodelling the cars the Yugoslavs may have fouled up the heating works.

But a more complex set of instructions came from Alfred E. Savage, who is so hep to the quirks of trolleys and buses that he has risen to the post of assistant vice president in charge of maintenance and equipment.

That little switch, he said, controls only an auxiliary system for very cold days. The main heat supply, which tormented Marshal Tito's citizens, is generated this way:

Underneat the car are resistors, which start and stop the vehicle. These are air-cooled by means of blowers. The air becomes warm. In winter, a system of dampers steers this air inside the car; in summer the dampers are supposed to deposit the hot air outside, on the tracks.

You can change the operation of the dampers by unscrewing a little metal plate inside the car, near the center door.

Helsinki (UPI) — Newspapers published a parliamentary appeal for help to get in the harvest in the wake of rain and cold weather.

DONATES LAND TO GOVERNMENT

Mrs. W. Alton Jones, second from right, widow of the late W. Alton Jones, an oil company executive, poses with former President Dwight D. Eisenhower and his wife at left and Stewart Udall, right, secretary of the interior, after Mrs. Jones donated 264 acres of battlefield land to the Gettysburg National Military park in Gettysburg, Pa.

Father Pleads Innocent To Endangering His Daughters

Los Angeles (AP)—Eugene Austin, a consulting engineer, pleaded innocent Wednesday to a charge of endangering the health and safety of his teen-age daughters by keeping them confined in a padlocked house.

Austin, 39, appeared in municipal court in suburban Van Nuys and asked for a trial by jury. Trial was set for Oct. 11. The father is free on $500 bail.

The daughters, Bonnie Jean, 16, and Karen Louise, 15, claim their father kept them in the house for 7 months so they wouldn't associate with boys.

Austin, who is divorced, said he only tried to do the right thing as a parent and padlocked the house only after discussing the problem with the children. The problem, as Austin sees it, was that "Bonnie Jean got mixed up with some boys."

The girls are being cared for, temporarily, in juvenile hall. Meanwhile, Mrs. Tony Martin of Lancaster, Calif., who identified herself as the mother of the girls, said that she will seek their custody. She said she divorced Austin several years ago, and subsequently married Martin.

QUADS ARE BORN TO AN IRISH WIFE

Limerick, Ireland (AP)—Quadruplets — 3 boys and a girl — were born Thursday to Mrs. Thomas Peppard, wife of a news dealer, at a Limerick nursing home.

Mother and babies were reported doing well.

Mrs. Peppard was a maternity nurse at the same nursing home before her marriage.
